IN MEMORIAM

MARY EVANS STONE

1863-1930

Founder of the Roundup

" Λ_{WAY} "

"We cannot say, and we will not say
That she is dead—she is just away.
With a cheery smile, and a wave of the hand
She has wandered into an unknown land.

"Think of her faring on, as dear
In the love of There as the love of Here—
Think of her still as the same, we say:
She is not dead—she is just away!"

MARY EVANS STONE 1863-1930

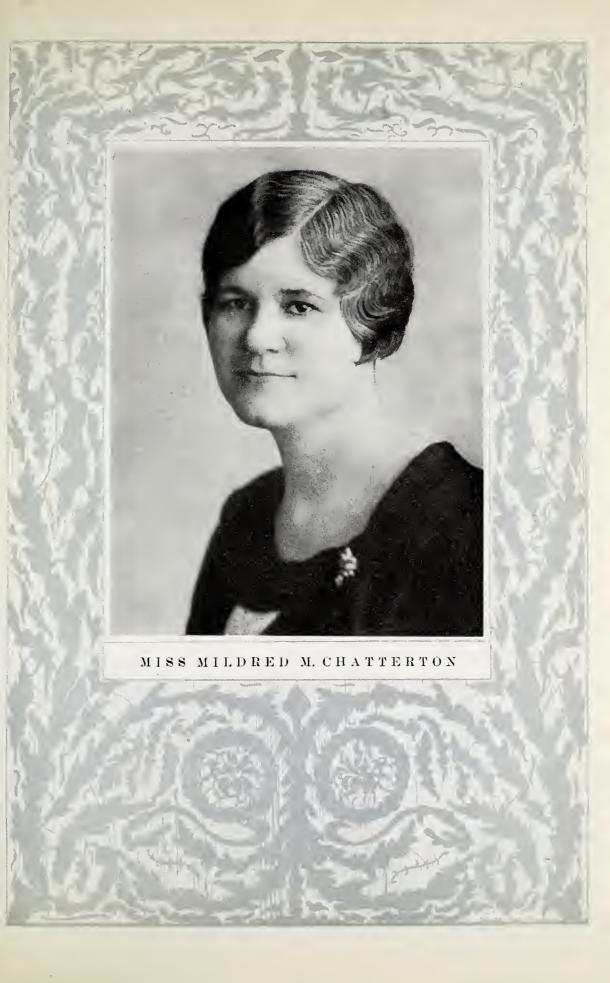

DEDICATION

To

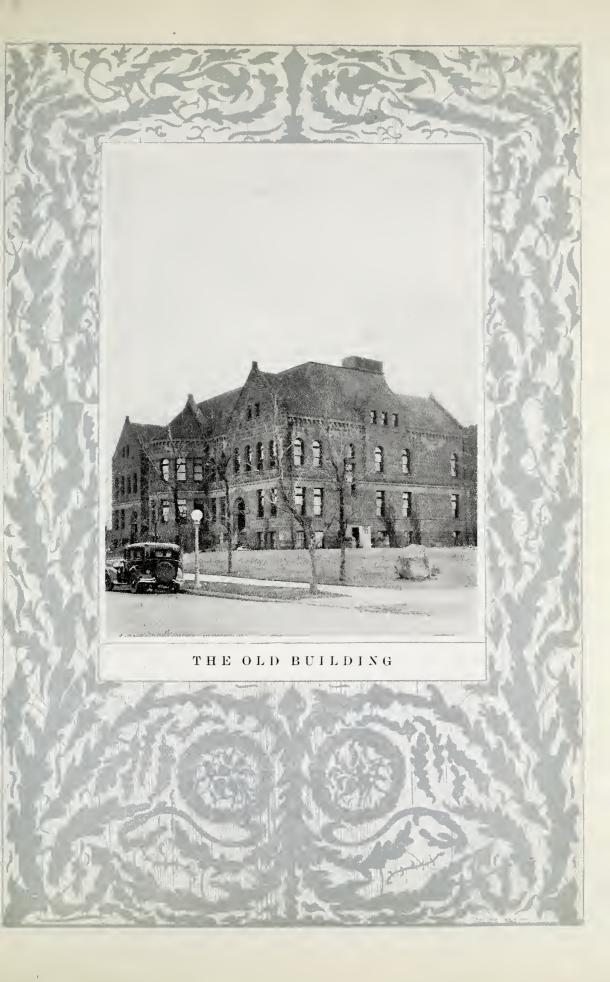

MISS MILDRED CHATTERTON

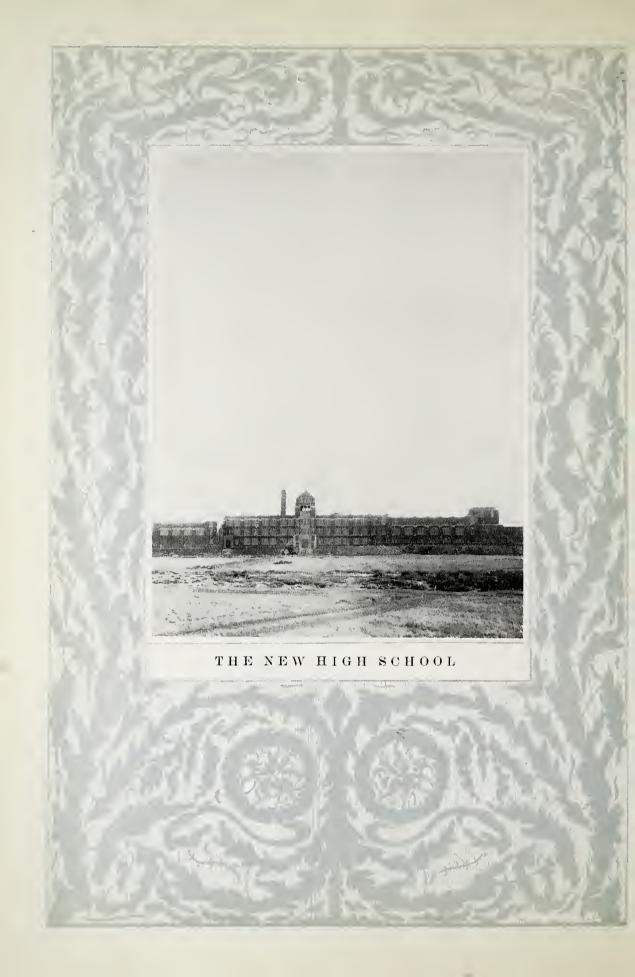

Whose gallant spirit, happy personality, sense of humor, and breadth of vision have brightened our high school life, we dedicate, as a token of our admiration and affection, this,

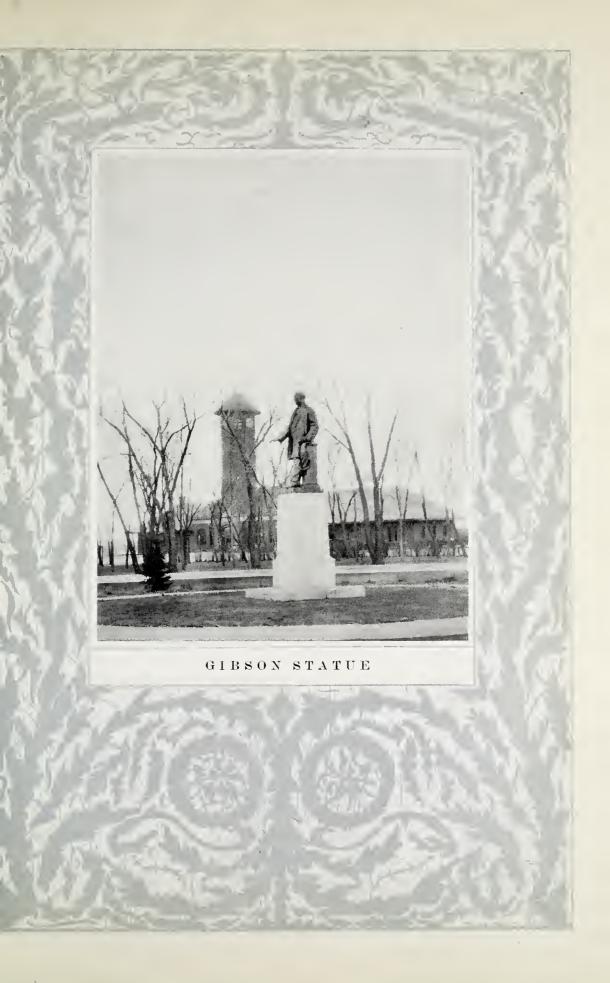

THE ROUNDUP — 1930

The students of the Great Falls high school take this opportunity to express their genuine appreciation for the support afforded them by the business and professional men whose names appear on the following pages.

Without the loyalty and generosity of our Sponsors, The 1930 Roundup, the traditional volume published by the Senior Class, would not have been possible.

THE NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

MISS JEANNE BUCKMASTER, Sponsor

The privilege of wearing the pin of this society is undoubtedly one of the highest and most coveted honors available to the high school student. Membership is determined by the faculty, principally upon the four cardinal points of character, scholarship, leadership, and service. Those represented on this page enjoy the additional distinction of being created members in their junior year.

FRANKLIN GILCHRIST RICHARD HOPPIN CHARLOTTE LEWIS RAYMOND NELSON WILLIAM POPE WAYNE PROFF

FALCONER SMITH CHARLOTTE SOUTHMAYD Lois Thompson JANE TUCKER NADINE WHITFORD SCHUYLER WOLFE

BEATRICE EILEEN ANDERSON

"Bea"

Bea is rather quiet and unassuming. Since she won't talk about her own virtues, you can be assured that they're worth talking about. Work is, of course, a necessary evil, Bea's idea, so she does hers as quickly as possible and then thinks of pleasure. Beatrice has a cheery word for all, and her friendliness establishes her firmly in the memories of '30.

General Course. Entered from Hereron School, 1. Home Economics Club 2; Girls' League.

JOHN H. ANDERSON

"Babe"

A blond Viking came out of the East (of Montana) in 1927 to be the pride and glory of Great Falls High School and how the newcomer succeeded in doing just that is a story in itself. A crack athlete, a good scholar, and popular class-mate, Andy has made a name for himself in our hall of fame which should remain a fixture there for many years.

Commercial Course, Entered from Fergus County High School 1. Football 4; Basketball 3; Bookkeeping Club. 4.

Valera Antonette Anderson

"Wevoe"

Valera is one girl who gives us a positive reaction. Pep, vitality, and beauty—it sounds like a bran advertisement, but it's really our impression of Valera. She is as modern as modern can be. Sport is her weakness. She has the knack of being feminine and athletic at the same time. She may count on us for lasting friends.

General Conrse. G. A. C. 4; Hi-Life Typist 4; French Club 4; Home Economics Club 4; Girls' League.

League

JOHN ANTONICH

John is not as well known to ns as we should have liked, for he is quiet and unobtrusive in nature. A steady worker, he makes his presence felt among those who know him best. The outdoors is his delight, and in it he spent most of his leisnre time. Football, baseball, track—they are all part of his being. The serions side of life chiefly appeals to him, and it will be in such a manner that he will continue his existence.

Manual Training Conrse.

Josephine C. Bangert

Josephine might have stepped out of a painting by Watteau. She has the French type of beauty that makes people look twice at her. It was always a pleasure to watch her at a football game—she was so enthusiastic. Josephine may start out in the business world, but we have a feeling that some man will not let her remain there long. General Course. Business Club 4; Girls' League.

LOUISE BARDWELL "Weezer"

"Short of stature, but of measure superfine."

When it came to writing about Louise, we were astonished at the good qualities which presented themselves. She was one of the steadiest workers in school. Invariably she quailed before a test and then drew the highest mark in class. She was as merry as a cricket all day long; so you see, Weezer, we may be a group of slammers, but we couldn't find a thing against you.

Classical Course. Art Club 2; Latin Club 3, 4; French Club 4; Girls' League; National Honor Society 4.

Morris Barsotti

Morris is as popular as he is good looking and he surely is popular! He is always just a wee bit bashful, just enough to make him admired. His determination brought results wherever he turned his energies. His career is one to be proud of, with its good marks and good times.

General Course.

KENNETH W. BATCHELLER "Kenny"

Handicapped by injuries and, sometimes, (tishtish) low marks: Kenny was unable to fulfill his dream of being the idol of the sport world but managed to successfully fill the position of athletic manager as a substitute. Quiet and solitary, "Sleepy" made an enviable reputation for holding friends and receiving those elusive passing marks. Scientific Course. Tech Club; Booster Club 2, 3, 4; Assistant Football Manager 2; Football Manager 3; Class Basketball 2, 3; Football 4.

LEO BEAULAURIER

It's surprising to note that in each graduating class there are only one or two students in whom are embodied all the attributes of a successful student. Leo is certainly one of those few fortunates, for he was an excellent student. a good dancer, and an aspiring athlete, which combined with his ability as an artist of the old West, placed him on the coveted pedestal of success to which we all aspire.

General Course. Entered from St. Mary's 2. Art Club 3, 4; Basketball 3, 4.

VERNITA MARIE BAUER "Beano"

"There's a little bit of bad in every good little girl."

If Nita ever got caught in a tight place, that twinkle in her eye, plus a little nerve, would surely pull her out. She made a loyal booster and a friend worth having, and excels in the heart line—blondes always do. Nita is clever and witty; she works hard and plays hard, too, likes to dance, and, on account of her beauty, she made G. F. a pleasanter place to attend.

General Course. Business Club 3; Art Club 4; Bookkeeping Club 4; Girls' League.

HAROLD BECKLIN

Harold is the kind of fellow that enjoys a good time, especially when it comes to the dance floor. He has few rivals there. He is an ardent hunting enthusiast and likes to be out in the open. Yet, in spite of his love for pleasure, he is a good student and a fellow among fellows. General Course. Senate 3, 4.

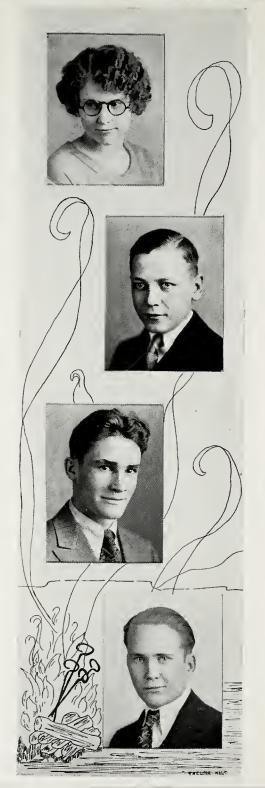

Јегоме Венме "Jerry"

Haven't you always just pined to meet a real honest-to-goodness Arrow Collar Ad model? Jerry certainly qualifies. He has that certain something (Elinor Glynn calls It) that gives him distinction. He's clever at doing a number of things, too, and here's wishing Jerry lots of luck, though we have a hunch he won't need it.

Scientific Course. Entered from Brainerd, Winn 4

Minn., 4.

CLARA BEST "Worst"

Clara's nickname "Worst" is very misleading, but, at least, it convinces one that this young lady is not conceited. Clara (not worst) likes to talk, and can hold her own in any argument for she simply refuses to be down-trodden. She bluffs a little, langhs a lot, and is in a good humor all the time, which forecasts a happy future—whatever or wherever that future may find "Best." Commercial Course. Business Club 3, 4; Girls' League.

League.

Alfred Bloom

"Umps"

Catering to the whims of temperamental athletes and radical members of the Senate occupied most of Ump's time, but still he managed to annex a continual stream of A's from his teachers and assorted wisecracks from his associates which placed his actions above suspicion. Girls played no part in his scheme of things and his fancy dance steps (solo) were exhibited for the benefit only of tired footballers and envious freshmen. Scientific Course. Football 1, 2; Athletic Manager 4; Senate 3, 4; Treasurer, Senate 4; Booster 4; Roundup Staff 3, 4; Letterman's Club 4.

ARTHUR BOVEE

"Art"

Like Chesterfields', Art's popularity is deserved because he has the nicest smile you ever hope to see, because his curly brown hair is entirely natural, because he was a star football player, because he is just a wee bit bashful, because his marks were always sans reproche, because he isn't ever the least bit high hat, because he and Det are a perfect couple, because he has a most agreeable, friendly disposition, and just because he's Art Bovee.

Scientific Course. Football 3, 4; Lettermen's Club 3, 4; Senate 3, 4; Secretary of Senate 4; Honor Society 3, 4; Student Council 4; President Honor Society 4.

ROBERT BOWMAN "Bob"

"Care is an enemy to life."

Don't*-be misled by Bob's look of dignified in-nocence, for underneath he is as mischievous as a small boy. He is dreamer enough to take life philosophically and is naturally friendly to every-one. He may not be an outstanding student, but he is recognized as a good fellow, thus proving that fun-loving persons may become efficient. General Course. Entered from Fargo High 1928.

PETER BRAJCICH

"He talks and then he talks some more."

Pete didn't amount to much as far as size is concerned, but he made up in quality (perhaps we should say volume) for what he lacked in quantity. Like the aholitionists of the last century Pete's cry was: "I will be heard." Aside from such paltry considerations, Pete managed to get his studies in a creditable manner and acquired many friends throughout school.

General Course. Senata 3, 4.

DOROTHY BARRY BROWN "Dotty"

As Venns added charm, beauty, and interest to Monnt Olympns, so did Dorothy add these to Great Falls High. We believe that Dotty would make a charming wife for any ambassador—she has poise, aristocratic bearing, and nonchalance. Her many admirers made her path a royal road to romance. We expect a great deal from Dorothy, and we trust that we will not be disappointed. Classical Conrse. Booster Club 3, 4; Latin Club 3, 4; Consul, Latin Club 3, 4; Roundup Square Dance 3, 4; Girls' Leagne; National Honor Society 4.

HYLON BURCH

HYLON BURCH

Hy is the ideal stage hand, he being able to double for any of the cast, produce weird sound effects, and manipulate the curtains usually at the rig t time. He was also an aspiring scientist, being able to produce the most uncanny results with a few chemicals, the product usually exploding and furthering the need of a new high school. However, we predict that if Hy can keep from experimenting with everything in sight for a few years, he will certainly develop into the nation's foremost stage technician.

General Course.

FRANK BURCHAM

"I like work, it fascinates me. I can sit and look at it for hours."

Frank is a hard proposition to diagnose. He looks meek and innocent enough but appearances are often deceptive. Under his indifferent exterior lurks a Romeo—lady Florence is the Juliet. We feel certain that luck will be his in love, life, and labor.

General Course. Industrial Club 4; Bookkeeping Club 4.

ELLEN BURG

"Let the world go as it may, I will take it anyway."

Ellen is just one of those happy-go-luckies that enjoys the present, forgets the past, and doesn't worry about the future. Her indomitable good humor carries her over many a rough spot (especially in the class room) and certainly makes her life easier to live. Ellen may not amass millions, but she won't have grey hair or wrinkles until she's about—oh, 100.

Commercial Course. Business Club 3, 4; Girls' League.

League.

MILDRED ELIZABETH CARTER

"Blonde"

"Sweet in manner, kind in deeds."

Mildred appears to a new acquaintance to be very quiet and reserved, but when they become one of her many friends she is thought of as a kind, true-hearted and generous girl. You just can't resist that smile of hers which is so pleasant. All of Mildred's friends should be proud of the honor of having such a sincere friend.

General Course. Home Economic Club 1, 2, 3, 4; Girls' League.

Girls' League.

MEDA BECKER CHAMBERLAIN

"Just we two"

Meda more than believes in the old slogan "Rex is king"—Anyway she put her fate into the hands of a certain Rex last fall. She is endowed with a sweetness and kindness not often seen, and the cleverness of her finger tips has made her a prominent figure in art classes. We prophesy that Meda will be an ideal home maker.

General Course. Art Club 1, 2, 3, 4; Girls'

MORRIS CHECKLA "Check"

Check's talents gravitate more toward producing the latest lighting effects for the stage productions than toward achieving high marks, but, still, we all have one dominant desire which we want to accomplish in high school, and being Central's electrical wizard seemed to be Check's. Morris, as the teachers called him, is also a severe critic of stage arrangements and also a charter member of the Tormentor's club, which should raise their amateur productions to a higher level.

General Course. Fargo High School 1927. Book-keeping Club 3, 4; Business Club 4; Tormentor's Club 4; President, Tormentor's Club 4.

VIRGINIA CLARKE "Genie Jen"

Genie Jen was one of those congenial souls with whom one never tires of associating. She was always helpful and willing. Her studies bothered her but little, and she applied herself with diligence to them. Her nimble fingers could make a typewriter operate with lightning speed. We feel no doubt that she will some day enlighten some happy home.

General Course. Business Club 4; Hi-Life Typist 4; Girls' League.

ARCHIE GORDON COLLINS

"Snab"

As the next feature in our program allow us to present Archie—our leading journalist. Always we saw him rushing around in a desperate attempt to secure a scoop and he usually succeeded. Archie excelled in all his school work—especially typewriting. For a more detailed report of his varied abilities, ask a friend who knows him.

General Course. Entered from St. Mary's 2 Junior Prom Committee 3; Junior Roundup Representative 3; Hi-Life 2, 3; Associate Editor Hi-Life 3; Roundup Play 3; Boys' Glee Club 2, 3; Class Basketball 2; Literary Board Roundup 4. Roundup square dance caller 4.

Leigh Cook

"Cookie"

Leigh is one of the finest fellows in school. He Leigh is one of the finest fellows in school. He is always ready to do his part in anything from a League of Nations contest to selling hot dogs. His sense of humor and extremely pleasant personality along with the desire to be fair in all his dealings make him known and respected. Manual Training Course. Booster Club 3; Boys' Glee Club 3; Boys' Quartet 3; Spanish Club 4.

DESTIE BREMER COOLIDGE "Det"

Destie doesn't need a write-np, really. Just one look at her list of activities will tell you all about her. Everybody and everything speaks for her pep and popularity. Athletics, Art, Boosters, Roundup, Class Officers—all show her charm and efficiency. As a saleswoman, she could persuade anyone into buying anything. Whatever Det does we'd like her to know—we're for her.

AUGUST COR "Gus"

Gus is another of those unhappy mortals who is always being expected to live up to the reputation of an older brother, who accomplished much more than the average student does in high school; but, still, he managed to graduate—after four years of unhappy boredom—and, as the baccalaureate speakers always say: He is on the high road to fame and fortune. Let's hope it's true, for Gus is a person who will always be respected for his gentlemanly qualities and never-ruffled disposition.

General Course, Art Club 3: Music Club 3. 4.

General Course. Art Club 3; Music Club 3, 4.

PATRICK JOHN VALENTINE CORCORAN

PATRICK JOHN VALENTINE CORCORAN

Val has so many claims to fame, that we hardly know where to start. He has, undoubtedly, the largest vocabulary in school, and his choice and use of words makes him an excellent speaker. Executive ability, literary talent, high scholastic standing, and prominence in school and class affairs have made Valentine well known.

MARGARET LOUISE COULTER "Plupy"

Much dash, vim, pep, vigor, wit, giggles, brains, and life—that's Margaret. That girl's sense of humor and store of jokes and wise-cracks make her a leading candidate for a Wilhelminia Rogers. Is she bright? Say, she had a monopoly on the A's, and received them with enviable ease. She's going on to bigger and better fields, and we hope we'll be daisies there so we can still enjoy our vivacious Pluny.

De daistes there so we can sime enjoy our vivacious Plupy.

WHEELER COY, JR.

Whetler COY, JR.

What Big Bill Thompson was to Chicago, Wheeler Coy was to this Roundup—for without Wheeler's high pressure sales methods and his persistent and efficient business tactics, this book would not be in your hands at this minute. He was one of those busy men rushing from one engagement, to another, but he had plenty of time to keep his associates in a good humor with his every-ready wit, and stage an "extra-special" snappy comeback, if one was forthcoming. We're expecting "Bigger and Better" things from Wheeler. expecting Wheeler.

Wheeler. Classical Course. Senate 1, 2, 3, 4; Secretary, Canate 2; President, Senate 3; Class Party Committee 1; Banquet Committee 3; Junior Representative. JOHN DAHLIN

"Always slow and steady."

John is one of the staunchest debaters and supporters of the Senate, G. F. H. S. possesses. His clear insight on all matters makes him a valuable friend, and his resourcefulness and sense of humor place him in line for success. He is a true blue persevering fellow.

General Course. Senate 2, 3, 4; Vice President, Senate 3; President, Senate 4.

GRACE DAVIS

"Devy"

"Why worry and fret,"

Going thru life with such a bewitching smile as Grace possesses takes one a long way. She has a care-free langh and a personality described as being—cozy. When it comes to cooking or sewing, Grace is A-1 as she also is a gracious hostess and friend to everyone.

General Course. Forum 1, 2, 3; Girls' League.

NELDA DEARDORFF

Everyone holds respect for Nelda. Her will to work hard, together with her kind smile and cheerful manner have made her many friends. She is a good representative of the commercial course, being kind, energetic, resourceful, and dependable. Life will probably be good to Nelda, because she has learned to "Keep Her Sunny Side Up."

Commerical Course. Spanish Club 4; Home Economics Club 4; Bookkeeping Club 3, 4; Girls'

DORIS DEXHEIMER

"I like to dance.

I like to sing,

I like to do most anything."

Heigho, everybody, heigho! Yes, that's Doris's theme song, and it makes an immediate hit with her andience. You honestly think girls like Doris are too good to be true—such laughter, such pep. such enthusiasm, and (this isn't a secret, either) such good looks, Doris is just one more big reason why the class of '30 was the best class that ever left G. F. H. S.

General Course. G'rls' Leagne.

MARY KATHRYN DIERBERGER

Take an ordinary senior, subtract the dignity, add a generous heart, multiply by pep, divide by many interests and the result is none other than Mary. She likes to "go places and do things" and it keeps here busy living up to her self-imposed motto, yet she is never too busy to take part in any work that may come her way—she smiles and says, "Yes, I'll do it."

General Course, Entered from Albany High School, Albany, Georgia, 1. Basketball 2, 3, 4; Tumbling 2, 3; G. A. C. 2, 3, 4; Art Club 4; Tumbling 2, 3; Secretary, French Club 4; Class Secretary 3; Prom Banquet Committee 3; Roundup Literary Board 4; Roundup Salesman 4; Girls' Leagne.

OTTO DIEKMAN

A roar and a bang! Presto, Otto is on the scene. The aforesaid clatter usually issued from his old Ford, which could surely go places, even if it wasn't quite up to a Cord for brakes. Otto was usually cast for the villain (in plays, of course), which blood-thirsty role he enjoyed immensely. Otto says just what he thinks, when and where and why he thinks it, but just the same if he's your friend, it's for better or worse.

General Course. Roundup Play 3; Industrial Club 4.

General Club 4.

LUCILE DILLMAN

"Lou"

Lucile was our Roundup typist and we will testify that she was a good one. Not even having to do three papers at once could ruffle her serenity. She was invariably cheerful and for this reason was admired by a large circle of friends. Her keen sense of humor was expressed by her clowning in pantomine. She is a girl with a future.

General Course. Latin Club 3; Business Club 4; Roundup Typist 4; Girls' League.

Valborg Dotseth

Looking at Valborg made us happy even when we were having a tooth pulled. This little girl is like the Dutch cleanser add—she brightens up everything. She dressed well and looks even better. Cheerful—why she could smile right through eight chemistry tests in a row. Intelligent—she could pass those aforementioned tests. And if you must know how we liked her—"and how" expressed it.

General Course, Home Economics Club 1; Business Club 4; Girls' League.

Russell L. Doty

"Russ"

"We Ain't No Puritans."

Russ is just a happy-go-lucky fellow. With that amiable disposition, cheerful smile, friendly greeting, and ready wit, he makes the whole day seem brighter, and we're all anxious to claim him as a friend—for he's the kind of a chap who stands by you in all kinds of weather. Russ has an extraordinary gift o' gab—he can almost make you believe that you don't know your own father. And as for girls—whoa! 'Nuf said.

ALICE MARY DUNN

"Innocence"

"Full of spirit, full of fun, And full of the pep that gets things done."

Alice is a most versatile young miss. 'Member what a crackerjack saleswoman she has been, and how cleverly she can act, and what amusing features she could write for the Hi-Life? She has a really clever "line" too, and with her pep she'll always put things over.

ESTHER VOND EPSTEIN "Ettie"

Esther is a "3 in 1" person. First, there is the Etty who is invariably charming, who is as gay, as friendly, as witty as one person can possibly be. Then, the serious Esther, aspiring toward high ideals and ambitions. Too, there is the elever Esther, with talent along literary, dramatic, and oratorical lines. Add a few more adjectives and Esther is complete.

RUTH LAVERNE ERICKSON

How she can play the piano! It is said that music hath charms to soothe the savage beast, but even if we're not savages, Ruth's music charmed us. A Lizzt rhapsody, or a Chopin nocturne becomes an artistic triumph under her skillful fingers. Ruth is certainly a worker, and how she retains so much pep rushing from one thing to another is beyond us. Ruth, won't you put us wise?

SIGRID FAGENSTRON

"Siggie"

"Let the reward of duty be duty itself."

Siggie is characterized as having common sense and reliability combined with that modest bit of frivolity which have given her an excellent reward in school. Although she stands high on the academic list she has managed to have the time, ability, and inclination to take part in class activities.

MORRIS FARRELL "Morry"

Morry may seem quiet to some, but to those who really know him, he is jolly and peppy. He is the kind who seems to get a great "kick" out of school, and life in general. He doesn't let studies bother him, but treats them like mere trifles, and doesn't come out so bad either. Help yourself to happiness—that's Morry's motto.

HELEN R. FEY

"Be fair, we must adore thee;

Smile and the world is weak before thee."

Good looks, good manners, and good sense along with an air of independence characterizes Helen. She must carry a four leaf clover around for she certainly manages to induce the teachers to give her good marks. And, along with all this she has the distinction of having few equals when it comes to dancing.

LEO FITZEK

Leo was not as well known to us as we should have liked. He entered G. F. H. S. in his senior year and is quiet and unassuming. We do know that he is a hard working chap, and one who minded his own business. He was well liked by those who were constantly associated with him, and he made friends easily. Leo's character is one which will bear him aloft through life's trials.

Mary is of the type that is content to do the work and let the other fellow take the glory. In many cases "the other fellow" would have been left out singing in the rain if Mary hadn't completed the seemingly impossible tasks left to her, at the last minute. A loyal class worker and an active participant in every worth-while activity, Mary contributed much toward making the class of 1930 known as a progressive one.

LEONARD JOHNSON

Leonard's another person who just can't seem to grow, but he manages to make himself known without the aid of stature. He has one time-worn possession, his grin, and we hope he'll always use it, for "smile and this world smiles with you"—and with a grin, whew! Social affairs didn't bother Len a great deal; he'd rather race 'round in an old bug, and he certainly enjoyed himself immensely doing so.

MARIE JUDGE

"I never could tread a single pleasure under foot."

To describe Marie is to say she is small of stature, full of pep and life, and has light hair and big blue eyes. The result obtained is—eute. Her irresistible giggle is famous in the study room and yet, withal, she has high ideas and ambitions.

"On with the dance."

Bob is best known, because of her ability to dance, for she has no equal (nor qualms) when it comes to entertaining. She is rarely seen without the other half—Genevieve, for these two are truly the genuine counterpart of the legendary Damon and Pythias when it comes to companionship. However, Bob manages to get average marks with all her diversified activities. General Course. G. A. C. 2, 3, 4; Tumbling 2, 3; Track 2; Girls' League.

LADORA C. KERR "Dora"

. "Blessed with that charm The eertainty to please."

Behold an artist in our midst, for Dora has an senoid an artist in our mist, for Dora has an enviable reputation as a devotee of the brush and palette. Studies, boys, or worries never bother her, for she's always smiling, and her friends say she's always ready for a good time. She is the kind who would go out of her way to help a pal in trouble, and indeed, one wouldn't mind the trouble part if a pretty girl like Ladora came to the rescue

MARY ANN KIMMERLE "Speed"

Judging from Speed's list of activities she should be able to fulfill any man's standards of the perfect wife; she being able to cook, perform a few gymnastic stunts or do any office work which the better half usually brings home at night. Between performances, we suppose, she will pass the time reading this nonsense and recalling days which now are gone forever.

Commercial Course. Basketball 1, 2; Bookkeeping Club 3; Business Club 3, 4; Home Economics 4.

MYRTLE JOSEPHINE KLINGBERG "Myrt"

"All labor and no play is not the proper way."

She is endowed with a happy chuckle and the ability to find a silver lining in every cloud. The phrase, "A regular Viking beauty," applies in Myrtle's case for her light blue eyes and intensely blond hair characterize her appearance. And when it comes to typing she has scarely au equal. As Roundup typist, Myrtle ever demonstrated her willingness to please, not one, but each member of the staff as his or her work was brought to be typed.

General Course. Business Club 4; French Club 4; Roundup Typist 4; Girls' League.

LESTER KOEHLER

We scarcely know what to say about Lester—he usually spoke for himself. As a Hi-Life reporter he managed to mix the news up with such unusualness that never more was it recognized by those who had participated. When Lester acquired an idea, you could hear him expound on it for a circumference of nine miles. Anyway, he made our 1930 class a versatile one—Here's luck Lester.

WARREN KROGSTAD

"Cannon-ball"

Some day we will be hearing of the man who broke all existing speed records—and that man will be Warren Krogstad, grown up. He has the most awe-inspiring motorcycle in school, and his "bug" can beat anything on four wheels. We usually catch glimpses of him as he dashes past on some new contraption, but we all admire his playing in the orchestra. "He is a good kid." Scientific Course. Orchestra 2, 3.

CLAIRE LAMOTTE

'''Twas throwing words away; for still This maid would have her say.''

Some think the world is made for fun and frolic, and so does Claire. Talking and laughing are two of her pet hobbies, but I suppose she has her serious moments, too. (When she's asleep?) Claire dives into everything with an unlimited amount of enthusiasm, and usually comes up asmilin'.

General Course. Business Club 3, 4; Junior Play 3; French Club 4; Girls' League.

LUCILLE HELEN LAPP

Lucille always appeared as though she had just stepped from a fashion plate, and her ability to wear clothes as their creators intended they should be worn, placed her on a pedestal high above most of us ordinary humans. And these assets, combined with her vibrant personality, caused her to be known as a member of that exclusive and elusive crowd known as "prominent students." It was often said of Lucille that the little things in life never bothered her, which probably accounts for her ignoring any and all school work. General Course. Home Economics 1.

GERALDINE LARSON

"Gerry"

"A pleasing smile, a gentle face. And a kindly word make a maiden's grace."

Gerry came to G. F. H. S. from Calton, South Dakota, and our only regret is that she didn't come sooner. Her chief characteristic is unselfishness, and she is always ready to help anyone. She helps herself, too, for she is an earnest student and her marks are there to speak for themselves.

General Conrse. Re-entered from Calton, S. D., Basketball 2; French Club 4.

LEONARD T. LARSON "Len"

Leonard's jokes keep everyone roaring. He is a cheerful, carefree chap, who is everyone's friend. His favorite pastime is dancing, it seems, for he is seen at every school dance. Perhaps it is because he is always in for a good time, and always has one there. Well, anyway, he seems just the type one likes to have around. Commercial Course.

SAM LEIGLAND

Sturdy, dependable, with a definite aim in life—That is Sam. He believed he was in school for a purpose, and he worked to attain that purpose. Mathematics proved his greatest interest, and in math. classes he worked the hardest. The material side of life held Sam, and he cared not so much for the social. He is the type that makes our country's dependable citizens, and we feel that he will take his place in upholding the interests of the community in which he lives. General Course.

ROBERT LEITGEB "Bob"

"A good temper is like a sunny day."

Robert is the little blond boy who always seems to be in such a hurry to get to places and do things. One of the nicest things about him is his cheery smile, and many of the girls are envious of his dimples. We predict a brilliant and happy future for Bob if he can keep out of mischief long enough to accomplish something great.

Commercial Course. Bookkeeping Club 4.

CHARLOTTE LEWIS

And whom have we here but one of the Electric City Flower Girls—absolutely the sweetest singer west of the Mississippi. She warbled so well that she won the Music Contest. In addition, she is a mighty clever girl. She was a steady worker and came out on top in her studies. We expect to hear of Charlotte as prima donna at the Metropolitan in a few years.

Honor Society 4.

VELMA E. LEWIS "Bemo"

"Sweet is the music she sings."

It is a pleasure to find among our classmates one who is at the same time literary, musical and genuine. Although she is reserved and self-containing, Velma is always ready for fun, and is indeed a good sport, which is shown by the merry twinkle in her eye. Most of us will remember her as having a pleasing voice and using it to a good advantage. advantage.

DOROTHY AGNES LILLIE "Dot"

Dorothy! Why, of course, she's that pretty girl with that certain shade of red hair (the kind that scores), blue eyes, and a complexion like a "skin you love to touch." Point four for Dot. She's tall, slim and graceful, and to see her dance one would think she were a bit of thistiedown. She has brains, and uses 'em too, for Dorothy very seldom said, "I don't know."

EDITH LLOYD "Edie"

Edith has two choices for a career. She can either be the mistress of a perfect home, or manage a business office. In the former she could use that culinary art for which she is justly famed; in the batter, her business sense would be a huge asset. In either case she will make as big a success as the has in her high school life.

Commercial Course. Music 2, 3; Business 3, 4; Girls' League.

TED LOFSTRUM "Fritz"

Here is the true star of G. F. H. S. Ted has John Barrymore's profile, Charles Farrell's bubbling personality and Harry Langdon's great gift of comedy. His school work was just another incident in his life, and he made it short but profitable. We expect Ted to burst into Neon lights in a few years, and we hope the Class of 1930 can be there to applaud his brilliant grand onening.

GLADYS EVELYN McCain "Happy"

If we may be permitted to use the moth-eaten platitude about "beauty and brains," here is another example of it. English and geometry were her meat—we never saw her turn a hair before a test. In addition, she is a real blonde with blue eyes—an unbeatable combination. She doesn't need any luck, but we wish her some anyway. General Course. Spanish Club 4; Girls' League.

GLADYS MCCREA

A laugh is worth a hundred groans in any place. It is an artist in soul, spirit and actions. Few plays were staged in which she did not play a major part. Quiet and serene, pleasant and always pleasing, she is a welcome addition to any gathering. We have little worry for her future; we know it is assured.

General Course. Junior Play 3; Girls' League.

WOODROW McElliott "Woody"

Woody is one of the most likeable members of our class. He is thoroughly alive whether in the classroom, where he excels, or on his much-used skates, or under his Ford, vintage of 1912. Woody's continuous good humor is phenomenal. Whatever happens to him in later years, he will never be without friends.

Scientific Course. Senate 2, 3, 4; Vice President Senate 4.

ROBERT JOSEPH McGREGOR "Pinku"

"The McGregors are coming tra-la-la-la."

Hereupon, in steps that reincarnation of a branch laddie"—Robert McGregor. He is a canny lad who entered almost every activity that the school offered. By his red-haired personality (Clara Bow?) he gathered to himself all manner of friends and honors.

ALFRED McIntosh "Al"

Have you seen Alfred play basketball? If you haven't, you've surely missed something great. His likeable personality also has made him popular—He is always surrounded by a gang of boys, but he is never seen with a girl, so one concludes that he doesn't care for them, or hasn't found "the" one. he" one. General Course. Basketball 3, 4; Track 4.

IVA MCKAMEY "Mac"

"We are all travelers in the wilderness of this world, and the best that we can find in our travels is an honest friend."

Isn't Iva quiet, modest, sweet and sincer? But looks, and we admit they are good looks, are often deceiving. Behind her calm and serene exterior there's lots of dash, pep and mischief. She doesn't talk much, but since actions speak louder than words, Iva is on the safe side. She hasn't much time to spare because she has had four years' companionship with Caesar, Cicero and Vergil, and you know the Romans are very exacting!

SHIRLEY MCKINNEY

"Red"

Here is the kind of girl you look at twice—and then thrice. She has that distinctive shade of red hair that we all yearn for, and as a daucer "she can't be beat." She is a cheerful soul and enlivens many a day. Being conscientious and intelligent her rating as a student was good. Here is one friendship we'd like to continue. Eh, what, Shirley?

ARCHIE MCLEOD "Chic"

Arch is our interpretation of Don Juan—tall, broad shouldered, with curly brown hair and heavy-lashed eyes which blend perfectly with his easy-going manner. However, he surprised more than one football opponent with his fierce playing, and a broken collar bone was ample proof that he could receive injury without complaint as well as give it. In between times he made life miserable for the girl friends by calmly ignoring their frantic attempts to date him up.

GARTH MAHOOD "Lefty"

Lefty's bid for fame lay in the timbre of his deep voice with which he has never failed to win an argument—his opponent could never be heard. He is also known as a fast typist and is the center of attraction when the desire to tap the keys came upon him. Of his scholastic standing we say little, which might be doing Lefty a favor. General Course. Entered from Augusta High School 3. School 3.

RANDOLPH MANUEL "Randy"

When Randy entered G. F. this year, everybody wondered who he was and where he came from, and all about him, for he certainly has an air that sets him apart. His good looks, with that worldly and blase manner, his wit, his pleasant nature—make him the best pal imaginable. And, some day, we predict Randy will be building houses, for he already knows just plenty about this business. Don't forget, call R. ELSIE LUCILLE MARTINICH "Dutchy"

Here is a girl worth knowing. Has anyone ever seen the time when Elsie wasn't willing to help the one in trouble? We all like her for her pleasing personality and sunny disposition. These qualities will make Elsie many more friends we are certain, and there is no need to worry about her future.

GERTRUDE MATHEWS "Gerty"

"Worry and I never met."

Of course you know Gertrude—everybody does. She is the girl with the twinkling blue eyes, blond hair, sharp wit, and care-free and untroubled mien. Gertrude has been one of the most staunch supporters of Great Falls High, and we feel that she will be a huge success in life. General Course. Music 1, 2, 3; Business Club 4; Girls' League.

GERALDINE MIDKIFF

When you hear a flock of giggles advancing your way—make ready for Geraldine. She has a sunny personality—red hair, the aforementioned laugh, and an indomitable sense of humor. We hear from a reliable source that she is practically the best cook in high school. As a dancer she can't be excelled—this also from a reliable source. Gentlemen—don't rush!

General Course. Girls' League.

DOROTHY J. MILLER

"Dottie"

"Dimples and brown eyes, A deadly combination."

Dottie is a real "medicine man for the blues." If you doubt this, just try to be glum in her presence. She tackles her daily duties (and dozen) with lots of energy, and she has high ambitions for the future, which will be fulfilled, if she keeps up at the present rate. General Course. Entered from Mount Angela Academy 2. Orchestra 2, 3, 4; Business Club 4; Forum 4; Girls' League; Ring Committee 3.

Annie Milne

There are girls and girls, but are they all like Annie? Decidedly not. In the first place most of 'em aren't half as good-looking; and second, most of 'em aren't half as pleasant and cheerful; third, most of 'em aren't half as ambitious (taking four years of math, for example), so all in all, this leads us to believe Annie is worth twice as much as the average girl.

General Course. Track 2; Volleyball 2, 4: Art Club 2; G. A. C. 4; Girls' League.

VERNE MONTGOMERY

A composite of humor, eloquence, beauty, and brains tend to produce the perfect combination which is found only once in each graduating class and this year's perfection is none other than Monty herself. Never in trouble and never troubled she is completing a high school career which, we predict, has had few rivals in the matter of pleasure, popularity and scholarship.

General Course. Forum 1, 2, 3; G. A. C. 1, 2, 3, 4; National Honor Society 3, 4; Junior Class Play; Prom Committee 3; Girls' League.

GLADYS MORRIS

"She prefers them blond."

Not very often does one run across a person gifted with the charming and sweet personality that Bubbles has. Having entered a year late and being modest, she has not made a multitude of friends, but those who know her describe her as being witty, amusing, and exceptionally entertaining—just like a good book.

General Course. Entered from Belt High School 2. Home Economics Club 4; Girls League.

JOHN MULLEN

John entered this year, and being rather quiet, is not known by many. However, reports come of his brilliance in oratorical and debating contests. He has proved himself a good student and he is able to adjust himself to reverse conditions. The old proverb comes once more to light—"Better late than never."

Lu - Lu Marie Regina Mulvaney "Lee-Lee"

Marie's responsibility is one of her outstanding characteristics. However, her quietness and bashfulness set her off from the crowd of students, and her real worth is hard for the average person to find. She is clever with her hands and is an active member of the Home Economics Department. ment.

General Course. Home Economics Club 3, 4; Vice President Home Ec. Club 3; Girls' League; President Home Ec. Club 4.

CARL E. MUMPER

"An ounce of a man's own wit is worth a ton of other people's."

Carl believes in hard work, and lots of it. He takes his fun where he finds it and never regrets the results. He is of the rare sort who can see a joke in any disguise. When Carl goes out into the world, we are assured of his success, for his "stick-to-it-iveness" will take him far. Commercial Course. Bookkeeping Club 3, 4; Business Club, 4.

CHRISTINA RANKIN MUNROE "Tinie"

"Quality, not quantity."

Tinie, as her name indicates, is not built on generous proportions, but what she lacks in size she has made up in spirit. School work was not one of her terrors, and she did love a good time. Wherever Tinie is, there also is laughter and enjoyment. We rest assured that Tinie will some day bless some happy home with her boundless cheer. cheer.

GENEVIEVE MURRAY "Geny"

"Her dancing feet are rarely still,

She works whene'er she has the will."

When it comes to tumbling, Genevieve can do anything, and her dancing ability has made her a prominent place in many affairs. Here is a girl who is full of fun and ready to have a good time. She has been a willing worker in G. A. C. and is always willing to take part in any program given by that club.

General Course. Girls' Athletic Club 2, 3, 4; Tumbling Team 2, 3; Girls' League.

ALETA A. NADEAU

"Charm strikes the sight, but merit wins the soul."

A bright smile, a smart appearance, and a witty rejoinder set Aleta apart from the majority of her sex. Life's worries meant little to her, and her exuberant spirits pervaded the places she went. The breath of her life is to keep up with the sayings of the day, and to pass them on to others. General Course. Music Club 1, 2; Home Economics 1; Girls' League.

RAYMOND NELSON

RAYMOND NELSON

Ray is the ideal example of the ideal student: Intelligent, studious, witty, and original. His scholastic standing is ample proof of his intelligence, while the many smiles which were reflected from his associates caused him to be known as a wit. To his originality goes the credit for many clever editorials which appeared in Hi-Life concerning subjects about which none other dared give their views.

NORMAN OSTERGREN "Ossie"

"Full of mischief, full of fun, Yet he is a gentleman."

Did you ever see Ossie without a cheerful griu spread from ear to ear and a twinkle in those blue eyes of his? You did not. Studies did not cause Ossie any loss of sleep, but he always got by, aided by a very valuable gift of blarney, no doubt. He surely could toot a wicked horn, too, and all in all, Norman is a mighty good man to have around.

MATHEW PANCICH "Rex"

Rex is distinguished by his nonchalant, businesslike air and his way of accomplishing things. He used his pedal extremities to the utmost, for besides winning his letter in track in '29, he is often seen on the dance floor. His ambitiousness can be noted by the fact that he is graduating with several extra credits. May your dance of life be long and merry, Rex!

General Course. Track 3.

HENRY J. PARROTTE "Harry"

Henry is the sort of fellow they write success stories about. He is what our grandfathers called "the salt of the earth." With machinery he was a wizard, and many an old Ford has been rejuvenated under his hands. When he becomes a big business man, we can all look back at our high school years and say: "I knew him." Until then Henry, good luck!

LEONARD C. PFISTER

"Soapy"

Although born at a very early age, "Soapy" soon overcame this handicap, and has been improving until we have the present flawless sixten-cylinder model. Our handsome hero (he admits it) girded his loins to four years of Latin, and came through weak, but winning. Leonard has a special aversion to work, and he uses more energy keeping away from it than he would by working. He's going to be a doctor—here's luck. Classical Course. "The gridiron is the meeting place of all good men."

Bill is certainly a man of affairs, which nobody can deay. He simply dotes on all kinds of athletics, managed to hold down the weighty position of Student Council president, and (it's a mystery to us) always managed to have his lessons. We're really expecting him to be a second Henry Ford or, maybe, a Knute Rockne. Scientific Course. MARGARET LORRAINE PREPUTIN "Micky"

Tall and graceful with an abundance of vitality and wit, blonde and sweet, amusing and affable, and studious and brilliant—that's our impression of Micky. We expect her to be the ideal stenographer at which occupation she will be able to fulfill her desire for a business career. Some day we hope to read of her success in business sections of newspapers.

WILLARD RITTER "Willie"

"Sigh no more ladies, sigh no more."

Willie, the handsome, is the Beau Brumme! of Central High and we hope that the old saying, "handsome is as handsome does," will still hold true in his case. However, he has more worries than looks, as can be seen by the fact he has had a lengthy high school course.

Bernice Annis Robinson "Bee"

Bernice's fairy god-mother must have been in a high good humor when she bestowed her blessing on Bernice, for she gave her a sparkling, fundoving nature. Your eyes brighten up the minute you spy her coming down the hall, she so radiates friendliness. And, too, she's not hard to look at —this girl that reminds us of a Spanish Senorita, with her black hair, snappy brown eyes, and smooth olive skin. Oh Bernice! You'd better not go to Spain, or you'll have all the toreadors descring their happy homes.

LILAH B. ROCKSTEAD,

At last! A genuine blonde in this world of drug store creations. Step right up and meet Miss Lilah Rockstead. She'll have a smile for all of you—she always dces. And we're certain she'll be true blue—she always is. She'll be there with plenty of fun and pep—she always has. With success she will keep in step—well, she couldn't help it.

BERNICE RUST "Rusty"

Bernice has an enviable reputation—that of being one of the best dressed girls in school. She doesn't need to go to a dictionary to see what "chic" means, she can look in a mirror, and as for class and style, even a Paris dressmaker would envy her. Alas and alack for the gentlemen of the class, Rusty's heart is firmly anchored, but may we add that we think Al is one mighty lucky fellow?

EUGENIA RYAN

Have you ever been absolutely down in the dumps and then been rescued by some kindly person? Eugenia is that kind of person. She has a personality that is guaranteed to cheer and lighten the darkest gloom. She is steady in emergencies, and absolutely reliable in her lessons (teachers will bear witness). If we ever get into trouble we would certainly like to have Eugenia near to help us out. us out. General Course. Girls' League.

ANTHONY R. SANKOVICH "Tony"

"Men of few words, are the best men."

Everyone likes a care-free, easy-going fellow, and Tony was well liked. He never worried about his lessons, although he sometimes caused the teachers to worry for him. A good sport with a good nature, he is neither a sinner nor a saint, but the best of good fellows.

HAZEL SCHMITZ

"Smitty"

Hazel, a tall, graceful brunette, is the kind of a girl that stays in your memory once yon see her. Work has a tangible meaning for her, yet it is not her master, for she enjoys a good time too much for that. Smitty was only with us one year, but we've had time to decide that "that is all too short."

General Course. Entered from Sidney High School, Sidney, Montana, 4; Spanish Club 4; Girls' League.

ETHEL MAY SCHROEDER

"Toots"

Ethel is the sort on whom everyone depends. She is the type that makes the world go 'round. Toots has a good deal of fun out of high school, because she can see the humor in her surroundings. Everyone likes her, and she likes everyone. If we could vote on the class's most perfect secretary, Ethel would probably be "it" without a dissenting voice.

JULIANNE SCHUBERT "Mike"

In our mad scramble for adjectives, as we came across "small," "sprightly," "dainty," "witty" and "adorable," we stopped—because those words fitted Julia so well. She is much admired for her charm and intelligence. We predict that in a few years she will be sitting on top of the world, painting the clouds with sunshine.

KENNETH C. SCHWERDT

"Neither too careless nor too sad. Nor too studious nor too glad."

Kenneth's outstanding work has been in the Senate, where he has been a hearty booster of all the club. He is easy going in his manner, and is not the type to let his studies worry him. He doesn't talk much, but when he does, you can be sure he has something worthwhile to say.

General Course. Senate 1, 2, 3, 4; Business Club 3; Marshal, Senate 4.

EVEL N SEMINGSEN "Ev"

If Evelyn were a boy, she'd probably be a star athlete like her famous brother before her, but, knowing her as a girl, we're glad she's what she is. Blessed with the ability to get the maximum amount of knowledge with the minimum amount amount of knowledge with the minimum amount of studying, she's always lived through the terrors of exams. Ev is possessed of common sense and dependability, and, more besides, likes a good time and loses no time in having one.

HAZEL SHEEHAN

"It hurts not the tongue to give fair words.'

Hazel is a charming conversationalist of unusual Hazel is a charming conversationalist of unusual sincerity. She has an attractive personality and is the kind of a girl one is happy to know. She rarely speaks an unkind word, and has a generous look and friendly smile for everyone—just the best of pals and an absolute cure for the blues. General Course. Entered from Central High, Minneapolis, Minnesota, 2. Business Club 3, 4; Treasurer, Business Club 4; Girls' League.

Rudolph M. Sherick "Rudy"

"'Tis better to be bashful than bold."

Whenever you see him, and in whatever he is doing, Rudy is a gentleman. There are some questions as to his quietness, but those can be ironed out, as he can make as much noise as anyone else. His ability to tease the girls and shake a wicked hoof at parties stakes his eligibility for all social affairs.

General Course. Football 1, 4.

FAY SHINK

Fay had the misfortune of not entering G. F. H. S. until her Senior year, consequently we did not have an opportunity to learn all her faults. but we certainly spied some good virtues. She proved to be a "busy bee" when it came to work, yet she didn't stay up all night burning the midnight oil. The friendships she made are lasting. We can only say we're extremely regretful Fay didn't come here four long weary years ago. General Course. Entered from Dunn Center High School. 4. Girls' League.

Reece Silve "Frenchy"

Handsome from a man's viewpoint and fascinating from a woman's, Frenchy lives an envied existence. His ability as a football player made him a strong contender for the all-state team, and his reputation bids fair to cause him to be remembered as one of the best guards ever to play for Central High School. However, all these attributes bothered him little, and he never failed to be anything but "just himself."

Manual Training Course. Football 3, 4.

Josephine Sisko

"Jo"

Jo has long hair, which gives her distinction and sets her apart from the crowd. She has many, admirable qualities, also, which help her to maintain this distinction. She is always ready to perform any duty which may fall to her lot, is always the same friendly person today that you knew yesterday, has a saving sense of humor which raises her morale on a blue day, and she always thinks of others first, herself last.

General Course. Roundup Typist 4; Girls' Leagne.

KATHERINE C. SKOCILIC "Kay"

Everyone likes Katherine. She is a good sport and a good basketball player. Although she wasn't, the kind of a girl that attracts attention because she was a wee bit shy, she has many good friends. We all admire her for her sunny disposition, brilliant blue eyes and her good humor.

General Course. Entered from Roosevelt High School, Port Angeles, Washington, 3. Home Economics Club 4; Girls' League.

AAGOT SKRIVSETH

A Montana agate always excites admiration in its crystal purity, its distinctive designing, and harmonious shadings are much admired. In much the same way, our G. F. Aagot is admired; hers is a fine and sensitive nature with finely shaded traits of character. Withal, Aagot is a busy and determined young miss, and seems to lack neither time nor purpose in the accomplishment of things worth while.

GEORGE W. SMITH

GEORGE W. SMITH

George W. is without an equal in G.F. H. S. He could talk louder and faster than anyone we ever met. He can certainly "spread the applesauce." He was also quite a lady-killer (ask any of our girls) and followed the sport of dancing with great enthusiasm. All in all he added great color to the local high school, and his infectious grin will leave a vacant spot, hard to be filled. General Course. Senate 1, 2, 3, 4; Executive Committee 2: Chairman Dance Committee 3; Music Club 1, 2, 3, 4; Hi-Life Reporter 2; Football 4; League Basketball 4; Hi-Life Campaign 3.

MARION ELIZABETH SMITH

How many Salvation Army lassies have brought help and cheer to the "down and out?" Marion was steadfast and determined. Nothing could daunt her—not even a shorthand test. Men meant nothing to her—she gave all of her time to duty. Because of her conscientious work, she was a joy to her teachers, and because of her friendly nature, she was a joy to her friends.

LUCILLE SNYDER "Cille"

Hola! Whom have we here but the class of '30's niftiest little stepper. A girl without peer in a chorus and also without peer in the gentle art of home-making. Lucille is tremendously popular with both sexes and still remains "humble and sweet." Figure and face—Lucille could eclipse any Broadway chorine. Lucille's is a friendship everyone seeks, and everyone appreciates. General Course. Home Economics Club 1, 4; G:rls' League.

CHARLOTTE MARY SOUTHMAYD

"A miss both charming and demure, Attractive? To be sure!"

Charlotte is just the type of girl whom we would suggest as a Mistress of the White House—for she has just the right amount of poise, charm, gracionsness and friendliness to fit into that difficult position. She has lots of stick-to-it-iveness, too, for has she not been an exponent of that cry of the Boosters, "Hot Dogs," for four long years? Don't worry about Charlotte's future, for whatever or wherever it may be, it is certain to be successful.

Josephine Spall

"Silence is a hard argument to answer."

Josephine is not well known, because of her quietness, but her friends proclaim that she is true, honest and a go-getter. Her efficiency and unruffled demeanor are easily seen, and her steady scholarship is the envy of many others. She is full of cheerful yesterdays and confident tomorrows.

RALPH WEBSTER SUTTON "Slim"

A first look at Ralph discloses dark hair, dark eyes, and an olive complexion—the ideal make-up of a "strong, silent man." But that is where Ralph fools you. He is blessed with a remarkable "gift o' gab," and a great part of it is good, common sense. Life keenly interests Ralph—he likes to play basketball, drive his car faster than the law permits, and dance until dawn. We hope Ralph finds his life's journey a long joy-ride. Manual Training Course. Senate 2, 3, 4: Senate Treasurer 3; Junior Play 3; Second Team Basketball 3, 4; Track 3; Football 2, 3.

STEPHEN M. SWANBERG "Stick"

"His dancing feet are rarely still; He works whene'er he has the will."

A sleek appearance, unfailing wit, and an agree-able personality characterize Stick. Using just enough of his talent to come through on top, he spent most of his energy in pursuit of a good time. Good music plus a slick floor makes up Stick's idea of entertainment. General Course.

HELEN SWEARINGEN

We've often wondered what transpired at those mysterious Pi Club meetings, but after discovering that Helen was a member we conclude they must all sit around and listen to her wisecrack. Helen's characteristics include charming mannerisms, vivacity, friendliness, and up-to-date line of slang, and the ability to attract football players. In addition to these assets, we credit Helen with having one of the cutest pictures in the Roundup. Roundup.

General Course. Girls' League.

ESTHER E. TESSMAN "Tessy"

"Common sense is not so common."

Esther is a worker from the top of her head to the tips of her toes, and although that isn't such a very long way. Tessy surely makes up for it. Her nimble fingers fly over the typewriter, and the way she takes shorthand dictation—whew! Tessy will make a first rate business woman, and here's hoping you land on Wall Street, Esther. Commercial Course. Entered from Cut Bank High School, 1. Business Club, 3, 4; Girls' League.

Lois Weston Thompson "Oty"

Very few in the class of '30 have the allaround sweet disposition that so characterizes all of Lois's actions. Her witticisms and laughing blue eyes are points in her favor as well as her attractive way of smiling. What a cheery outlook one has on life when he has the rare sense of humor that our Lois possesses!

IRENE HELEN THRASHER "Slow"

"She is wise who talks but little."

Don't let Helen's nickname, "Slow" mislead you. Perhaps she wasn't as swift as Nurmi in mastering history, mathematics or science, but in the long run, she apparently seemed to win. Helen's friends clamor for her company, as her virtues are numerous and worth patterning after. General Course. Home Economics Club 1, 2, 4; Glee Club 2; Spanish Club 4; Girls' League.

BLAINE THRELKELD

Here is a modern Huckleberry Finn. Carefree, careless, he drove his Ford with an abandon that endeared him to his fellows. He was no intentional lady-killer but quite a few cast (shall we say languishing?) smiles upon him. Nothing short of a history test daunted him, and math. frightened him not at all. In dramatics he could play anything from a wild Indian to a perfect child. He has the personality of a bond salesman, which means that he will go far.

Scientific Course. Senate 3, 4; Junior Play 3; Dramatic Club 3.

JANE TORNQUIST "Chinook"

Jane reminds us of Anita Page—tall, blond; good looking with plenty of "it" in her make-up. Math., Physics, Chemistry—these were her meat—and everything else she does comes out in A-1 shape. The way Jane talks is perfectly fascinating—lisp and Eastern drawl! Here's hoping Jane firds many new worlds to conquer!

Scientific Course. Entered from Lawviele, New York, 2. Latin Club 3; Music Club 4.

FRED TRABER, JR. "Fritz"

Fritz is the original "Beau Brummel" of Great Falls High School! His success with the ladies can only be written in volumes, and as for being a good basketball player he is okay. He likes a good time at any moment, and manages to get passing grades in some unexplainable fashion. He is the sort of fellow one is glad to know. Scientific Course. Hi-Life Salesman 2, 4.

GRACE E. TUCK "Tucky"

"A person has friends who shows himself friendly."

Grace was the kind of a girl to whom dependability and regularity were ideals and existence. It was seldom, indeed, that Grace didn't perform her part in our daily program. Sunny of disposition, her friends were many and steadfast, and of enemies she had none. Tucky loved a good joke, and her disposition stood up nobly when said joke was directed at herself. Such people are always in demand.

General Course. Art Club 1, 2; Business Club 3, 4; Spanish Club 4; Hi-Life 4; Bird Club 4; Girls' League.

JANE L. TUCKER

JANE 1. TUCKER

Jane is a lass of wondrous grace; this yon can tell just by her face. There's none so sweet or none so cute; and this you'll agree is a high tribute! She's not very big, and not very tall; but stature, you know, is not quite all. She's there with the knowledge, and there with the poise, and she's always been popular with the boys. She's always welcome wherever she goes, and can gracefully trip on the tips of her toes. To make this short, as well as complete, she's cute, she's witty, she's small and sweet.

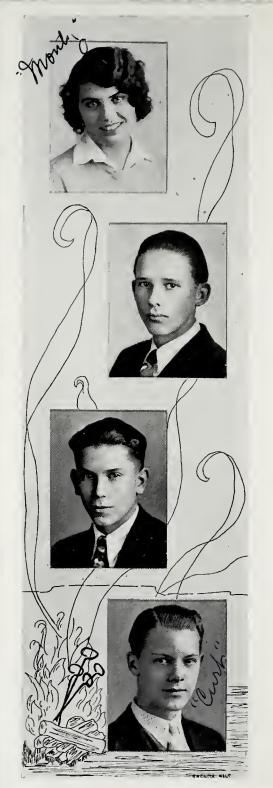

General Course. Student Council 1; Forum 1, 2, 3, 4; Class Vice President 2; Class Secretary 4; Roundup Salesman 2, 3; Junior Prom Committee 3; French Club 4; Roundup Literary Board 4; State Extemporaneous Essay Contest 3; Associate Editor Hi-Life 4; National Honor Society 4.

JOHN P. VAN TIGHEN "Johnny"

The essence of Johnny's character was deliberation. He did not hurry himself, and couldn't be hurried, but when the task to which he sets himself is completed, it is thoroughly done. Hard work occupied his time; the glamor of the bright lights held no attraction for him. If perseverance means success, we are all assured to this young man's future.

Manual Training Course. Tormentors 4; President, Industrial Club 4.

MONTANA E. VEGAS

"Monty"

Montana is surely rightly named for the Treasure State, for she is certainly a treasure to this school. She is an excellent scholar and a hard worker. We predict that through her experiences as a Camp Fire girl Monty will become one of the world's greatest executives. We are ready to assist you, Montana!

General Course. Orchestra 1, 2; State Interscholastic Music Meet 2; Business Club 4; Spanish Club 1; Girls' League.

WAYNE VIHINEN "Waini"

This year's class may produce a crop of scientists. If so, Wayne certainly will be one of them. He probably will defeat the laws of gravity, or perfect television, or do some other remarkable thing that will make him a millionaire. He just "has that look in his eye." When he does, we can say, "I told you so," and then give three cheers for Wayne.

Scientific Course.

WILLIAM WALLACE

"Bill"

"A laugh is worth a hundred groans in any market."

Bill is one of the wittiest fellows in G. F. H. S., and has a remarkable good line. He has leisurely ambled through four years without much worry, probably, because of his scholastic ability. He has always been natural and likeable, which makes him admired by all. Scientific Course. Senate 1, 2, 3; Business Club 2.

CURTIS WEISMANN "Curt"

Curt's chief trouble in G.F. seemed to be informing the world in general and the teachers in particular that his name was not spelled with two "s's". In spite of this attack on his dignity, Curt would make the ideal man about town. You know—cane, derby, spats—and that suave polish and "savoir faire" that marks this type.

Scientific course. Entered from North Central 1. Junior Representative, Roundup 3.

LUCILLE WESTERMAN "Lou"

Lucille is that rare specimen—a girl who is sweet and still has forceful personality. She only entered Great Falls in her Senior year, so we didn't have such a long time to know her. She is heaps of fun, even in a classroom. Some business man will find an excellent secretary in Lucille. She will be a good bet—whatever line of work she takes up.

General Course. Business Club 4.

NADINE WHITFORD

"She's pretty—we like her a lot! She's smart—we'll trade her—Not!"

Nadine is our leading candidate for the Typical American Girl contest. She has the athletic ability of a Helen Wills, the looks of a Norma Shearer, and the fun-loving nature of a Clara Bow. She's a peach of a pal, for she can be gay when you are gay; serious when you are serious. She'll tackle the world with zest and enthusiasm, and enjoy it, for Nadine's the kind that's just glad she's alive.

LILLIAN WILLCOMB ``Lil"

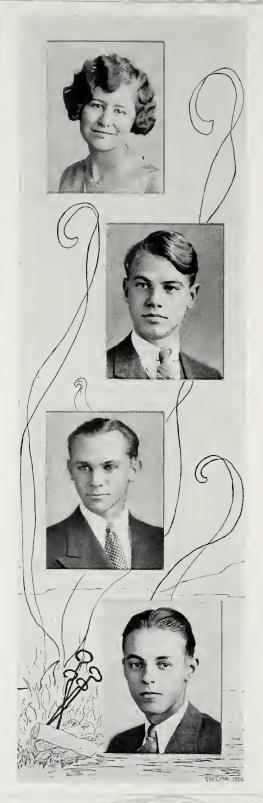

Ah, we've been waiting for Lil's name to appear and now that it's here, we're going to say just what we think. Lillian is one of the cleanest, fairest, happiest, hard-working and most sportsmanlike girls ever to grace the halls of G. F. H. S. The school could easily do with hundreds like her. With never a harsh word for anyone and always exhibiting a spirit of willingness and coperation with both teachers and students, Lillian will be remembered even by lower classmen. General Course. C. 1, 2, 3, 4; Forum 1, 2, 3, 4; Art Club 2; Booster Club 3, 4; Treasurer Booster Club 4; National Honor Society 3, 4; Secretary-Treasurer Honor Society 3, 4; Secretary-Treasurer Honor Society 4; Student Council 3; Glee Club 3, 4; Montana Interscholastic Music Meet 3, 4; News Editor Hi-Life 4; Roundup Salesman 2, 4.

ANDREW D. WILSON "Andy"

Riverside Gardens and homework were Andy's chief topics of conversation; girls and homework, his greatest worries; and sports and homework his idea of pleasure. A slave to sophistry and komework, he was continually worried as to whether he had that new dauce step right, and if he'd have time for his homework. However, he was the envy of many because of the fact that he was able to spend four years in high school without once doing his homework.

General Course. Entered from Nashville Agricultural Normal Institute, 3.

BONNYLIN WOLFE

"Bonnie"

It would have been a pleasure to have had Bonnie with us for four years instead of only one, because after knowing her for the past nine months, we feel that we have been really missing something when we realize that others have had Bonnie as a fellow student for the other twenty-seven months. Still one year of her company is better than none at all, so we at least can be grateful for that.

General Course. Entered from Shelby High School, 4. Bookkeeping Club 4; Business Club 4.

RICHARD SCHUYLER WOLFE

"Dick"

In this cage, ladies and gentlemen, you see the only living slide rule in existence. Bring on chemistry, math., Spanish—Schuyler will eat 'em up. We never saw such a lad for science. He is a good mixer, too. In fact we had a lot of fun with Dick, yet we all liked him. We can't help mentioning his dramatic ability—just one thrill after another is his motto.

Scientific Course. Hi-Life 2; Spanish Club 4; Bird Club 4; Dramatics 4; National Honor Society 4.

GEORGE W. WREN "O'Reilly"

George's interest has been centered on football, in particular, and all sports, in general, and for three years he put forth his best training and should be able to supply any prospective wife with an endless number of bread boards, his specialty. His nickname typifies him—just a goodnatured lad who couldn't be bothered with the little obstacles to happiness.

Manual Training Course. Football 1, 2, 3; Industrial Arts Club 4; Secretary Industrial Club 4.

GORDON W. WRIGHT "Gordy"

"A clever man turns great troubles to little ones, and little ones to none at all."

Gordy certainly must be clever, for he seemed to have no troubles at all. Studies didn't worry him and, although he wasn't one of those fortunate persons who can get A's without studying, he managed to get by. He was popular with his classmates, and has a taking way with the ladies. General Course. Basketball 3; Senate 3; Hi-Lifa 2; Life 3.

FRANK ZEMAN "Bobby"

Bobby's willingness to argue caused more moanin' and weepin' among the faculty members than all the payless paydays that teachers experience in four years' time. Bob's taste ran more to the Commercial Department and parties than to the Athletic Department and girls, but these qualities only served to furnish the variety that poets tell us is "the spice of life."

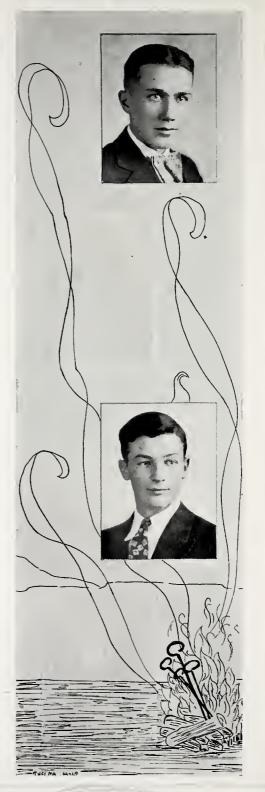

Commercial Course. Bookkeeping Club 3; Business Club 3.

ALBERT ZIPPERIAN "Al"

"A silent tongue and a true heart are the most admirable things on earth."

We know that when Al starts a thing it will be finished to the best of his ability. Sincerity and dependability are among his good traits. Those who know him as a good-natured, true and generous companion will never forget him, and are confident of his success in any walk of life. General Course.

BLUE AND WHITE FOREVER

Within Montana's fairest town, Beside the falling waters, There dwells a High School of renown, And we're her sons and daughters.

As tides that ever ebb and flow, Our classes meet and sever, But we'll be true, where'er we go, To Great Falls High forever.

Then raise aloft our colors bright, Let every class sustain them, Guard well the blue, defend the white, Let no dishonors stain them.

CHORUS:

THE BAR THREE OUTFIT

Nearly all the "Happy Family" returned to the ranges of the old G.F.H.S. in the fall of 1929. After a few days the hilarious spirit of the buskarus was subdued and they settled down to work under their former Old Man and the foreman, Glenn Shelton and Jack Pope respectively. The outfit judged Helen Gilchrist and Dorothy Black able to take roll call and receive the dues.

For a while it was doubtful whether the "Happy Family" could throw both a feed and a dance to usher their rivals, the outfit of the Circle Three, into the cold, cold world, but the Old Man worked and worked, and finally got his way, as usual.

All the cowboys from miles around took their girls to "The Youngest" our dramatic success.

We copped second in the sale of Roundups, and our foreman, Jack Pope, won in the popularity contest.

On the whole the "Happy Family" is well represented in school activities, both interscholastic and intrascholastic.

THE DOUBLE NUMBER OUTFIT

'Long about the fall of '29, the year of the big snow, the Double Number outfit sent their men down into the Great Falls High country. They weren't much liked by the other outfits because their four hundred sheep ruined all the range.

Ralph Bailey, the famous prospector, grubstaked the bunch and Long Horn Bob Severance was chief leader. Leonard Gaines trained the sheep dogs. The chuck wagon was sure popular, because Maizie Richardson was cook. Bob Speck paid off the hands when pay day came around.

The outfit made history when they gathered at the Last Chance. Gamblin' Max Kilroy and his boys played the nickleadeon. The affair was a howling success. There were three shootin' matches, but only one was fatal.

The boys went on a bend and shot up the local news office—the Hi-Life. They took over the town for a whole week. The paper they wrote startled the natives. The sheriff was pretty near run ragged trying to hold the branch down.

Shearing time came at the Booster Carnival—and the rarin' cowboys woohooed the innocent lambs out of several weeks food by shooting craps and pitching horseshoes.

This thundering herd is going on to the new water-hole next year, and from all appearances, the range will be covered with Class A Stock.

ROUNDUR

ROUGH AND READY CAMP

In the fall of '29 a new outfit came onto the range which showed signs of their future ability. Due to overfeedage, '33 was forced to ride herd only in the afternoon. Thus, with the whole morning to oil their saddles, mend harness, etc., in preparation for the afternoon labor, they progressed rapidly. Under Mr. Ellsworth Lumley, owner; Emil Beaulaurier, foreman; June Briggs, straw boss; and Bob Clary, paymaster, their success was assured.

In the fall a great number of dogies were branded with the Hi-Life, showing that the riders from '33 know their punchin'. Again on March 7 they made a large branding with Roundups.

This camp staged a big shinding to celebrate the class's graduation from the Tenderfoot stage, and set the stakes well in spite of inexperience.

We are expecting this stampedin' herd to march onto the new range in "them that hills" over yonder and strike a rich gold vein which will make them outshine the three other rival diggin's.

BOOK IV ATHLETICS

THE

Frank Jordan Coach

The Blue Bisons were trained this year under the direction of Coach Frank Jordan, former regular on the Villanova football team, who came here with the intention of instilling in the Centralites a knowledge of all sports as they are being taught in the foremost colleges of the country. Coach Jordan followed the Notre Dame system of playing during the football season and has made a ground work of reserves which will enable him to carry on a successful season next fall. His basketball team also completed a fairly satisfactory season and enough lettermen remain in this sport to insure another smooth working squad next winter.

It has been a pleasure for us to know and work with Coach, and those of us who are to remain entertain the pleasing prospect of another year with our genial, gentlemanly, and capable athletics director.

HARRY L. SCHULTZ
Assistant Coach

The success of the first team in any season always depends upon the calibre of the second team. This year was no exception to the rule. The reserves were again trained by Coach Harry L. Schultz, who has directed the second squad activities for the past four years. Between Coach and his team there was always perfect harmony and the manner in which the reserves always took the field with a "we'll win for Coach" look on their faces expressed their loyalty to him as no words ever can.

To the athletic manager falls the many minor details necessary for the production of prizewinning teams, such as keeping check on all equipment, having first-aid material on hand at all games, and, in general, allowing the coaches more time to train the teams by relieving them on the many details which really constitute a large part of the athletic department's program of activities. The position of manager was ably filled this year by Alfred Bloom who was assisted by William Zadick as Junior manager and by Tom Lambert as Sophomore manager.

Coach Jordan, the new Blue and White mentor who formerly starred for Villanova under the "Notre Dame" style of play; stated at the start of the season that Great Falls would also use the Rockne plan of playing. The "Notre Dame" style of playing proved to be a success, and the team members after a few weeks of hard drilling, had successfully changed their tactics from the systems taught by former coaches.

The first squad this year was composed of thirty-six players, three complete teams and several substitutes. The Rockne system of playing called for a reserve team to start the game in order that the opposition might be somewhat weakened when the first team took the field. The idea proved to be a success, and when the first team relieved the reserves, the opposition was unable to do its best against a fresh squad.

One feature of the Blue's playing was the reserve strength which they always exhibited in the second half of every game. In many of the contests, Central High was unable to score in the first two quarters but broke away in the latter part of the games to score their touchdowns. The clever shift plays which Coach Jordan used proved too deceptive for many opposing players as each time they were tried, a gain for the locals was usually registered.

Coach Jordan will have many of his regulars back next season in addition to the second squad players who have already been aptly trained in the new playing style. Jordan was assisted in his coaching by George and Jim Milne, former Central High stars, who have won national recognition while on the Villanova line. The two brothers instilled in the guards and tackles the value of a quick start and the use of the hands, factors which proved extremely valuable before the season ended.

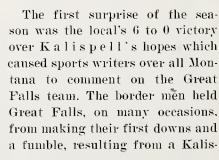

WILLEY, g. HICKMAN, f.b.

KONHONE

The first game of the season was with the Chinook players who proved to be too light and inexperienced to cope with the steady stream of players that Coach Jordan was sending into the game. The main reason for this contest was to give the new mentor a clear conception of the abilities of his squad and was in no way regarded as an important game. As has been the custom in the season's first game, the principal groundgainer received injuries which handicapped his season's work. This year it was Hober who was injured and throughout the season substitutes were constantly needed to replace him.

pell player dropping the ball after receiving it on the kickoff, was the direct cause for Central's only goal.

Central's satellites then began a drive down the field which ended on the 29 yard line where quarter-back Leland called for a pass to be delivered by him to Flanagan. The pass was successful and Flanagan was stopped only a short distance from the last marker over which Flanagan plunged, on the next play, for the winning touch-down. Great Falls failed to convert its goal and the score was placed: Great Falls, six; Kalispell, 0.

The first major game on the home field was with the Missonla gridders who went home defeated, by the score of eight to six. The garden-city boys made a sensational start by scoring a touchdown in the first five minutes of play, but failed to live up to their reputation of being exceptionally strong contenders for the state title.

WILLETT, q. HOBER, f.b.

FLANAGAN, h.b.
PATTON, e.

Chuck Flanagan, flashy half-back, was the star of the Missoula game when he caught Leland's pass in the last few minutes of play and ran the ball up to the goal line over which Lux soon plunged for the winning touch-down.

Robert "Tex" Patton, gave the best performance of any of the linemen in this game and was directly responsible for Missoula's defeat as he seemed to have the uncanny ability of fathoming out plays before they had even begun and was able to inform his teammates of the fact. His spectacular tackles were well worth the price of admission and, together with Lux's kicking, constituted what would otherwise have been a tiresome revival of the ancient art of wrestling, as most of the linemen seemed unable to break loose.

Loomis of Choteau was the outstanding player of the Great Falls-Teton game held here the following Saturday. The giant cougar was able to break through the line time and time again, and his kicks were usually safe, but, as his teammates gave him little support, the visitors were at the small end of a 28 to 0 score. However, the Choteau players held the Blues scoreless for the first two periods, and three times Teton threatened to advance the ball the length of the gridiron with the aid of short, snappy passes.

The next victory was made against Anaconda, resulting in a score of 20 to 0; the Great Falls team as usual went scoreless in the first half and then broke loose in the last two quarters of the game to run an easy victory. The first two touchdowns made were contributed directly to Anaconda's fumbles near their own goal line, the Blue ends rushing in and getting possession of the ball on both occasions and then making a concentrated drive down the field for touchdowns.

Lux, f.b. Abbott, h.b.

ROUNDUR

WHARTON, t. GOGGIN, e.

The third and most sensational touchdown of the game was made by Bill Pope, giant center, who snatched a pass made by the visiting fullback and rushed through all opposition to make the score 20 to 0. The star performer of the game was, as usual, Fred Zadick, who checked off runs of ten to twenty yards in the last half that had the fans on their feet howling for blood.

The game which the Bisons had been looking forward to all season and which ended with victory was the Billings contest at Billings. The team came home with a thirty-one to seven win. Billings scored their only touchdown early in the first quarter as the result of a fumble, but from then on they were unable to score. With fresh men going in constantly the Cowboys could not keep going. When the game was drawing to a close, the third team was in, and they more than held their own, succeeding to score a touchdown against Billings. In this game Bill Pope again scored a touchdown in the same manner as against Anaconda. He intercepted a pass and shaking off about three tacklers ran for a touchdown.

The first defeat of the season was at the hands of the Helena eleven which chalked up a score of seven to six. Helena's air attack was the best seen on the local field during the season and was the principal ground gainer for the visitors. The greatest crowd of the season attended the game. Fred Zadick scored our only touchdown. It is said that he told his fellow teammates that they were going to score a touchdown on the next play. As we all know, he fulfilled his prophecy by running fifty-four vards for a touchdown. Great Falls failed to convert the extra point, thus giving Helena a seven to six victory, because we failed to score again.

Havre's Blue Ponies gave Great Falls its final defeat of the season, the score in this contest being seven to six. Havre was unable to gain ground against Great Falls except when Hughes of Havre took the ball on the kickoff in the beginning of the second half and ran 84 yards for a touchdown.

With thirteen lettermen back next year, the prospects for the next season are entirely favorable. The second squad has been developed in the Notre Dame style of play also, and former members will be able to give the lettermen plenty of competition for the regular berths on the team for the coming season. With this wealth of material available for the next vear's team, we are confident that the first squad will be of championship calibre and wiff be able to make all of the teams of the state take notice when Great Falls starts playing.

The members of the second team were at all times loyal supporters of the first team. They always did their part in scrimmaging and getting the first team in the prime of condition and playing ability. The second team was a scrappy outfit who succeeded in defeating Belt, and Fort Benton. They took Belt into camp on their own field, a feat which has never been done before by a Great Falls second team until this year. This alone would prove the fighting scrap which the second team always displayed. The seconds were greatly handicapped by the fact that there were thirty-six men on the first squad. This did not leave much available material for the second squad. This handicap was overcome in fine shape and Coach Harry Schultz always placed a team on the field that was able to give any opponent plenty of opposition. The members of this squad will be a great factor in the formation of the first team for next season.

OUR ORIGINAL TEAM --- 1900

THIRD ROW—Harold Sands (e); Richard Randall (t); Hugh Sheehy (g); Lawrence Sergbusch (c); Edward McGorrin (t); Arthur Gassman (e).

SECOND ROW—Harry Campbell (h.b.); Professor Surry (h.b., captain); Frank Shepherd (coach); Alec Ashton (f.b.); Fred Scranton (g).

FIRST ROW—Tony Teitjen (q.b.); Arthur Conrad (e); Charles Rinker (q.b.); David Hoffman (h.b).

Late in September, 1900, the first organized football in connection with G. F. H. S. was begun, inadvertently, under the direction of Mr. Frank Shepherd, a former Eastern player. This team faced many vicissitudes and discouragements, such as inadequate equipment, inexperience, lack of support, and poor training facilities. Its first opponent was the husky Indian team of Fort Shaw. Unlike today, the trip was made in a four-horse carryall, during one forenoon. Among other squads, they played Belt and all-star groups from the city.

Despite its humble and somewhat irregular origin, this first team and its coach deserve our respect and gratitude for establishing the sport as they did. Every year since, we have had football, and in a large measure, we are indebted to those gallant beginners who helped so to make possible our fine record.

BASKETBALL

Dalich, g.

Coach Jordan started the season without a single veteran of last year's team; however, he was able to develop a team that steadily progressed in form and playing ability and was able to make itself be regarded and a team to be watched at the district tournament at Havre. The final threat never was realized, and the Blue Bisons ended the season with a defeat by Choteau, who won third place in the tournament.

Patton, f.

The old thrill of seeing a snaky forward dribble down the floor and drop in a basket for Central's side of the score column was sadly lacking this year as the new blue mentor had decided that the Bisons were to concentrate on short, snappy shots close to the basket and the long shots were to be a thing of the past. The plan did not work out especially well as often times the man with the ball was near the center of the floor, surrounded by plenty of opposition and with no team-mate waiting near the basket. The only thing to be done in this case was to try to dribble free and this was usually unsuccessful.

Great Falls did develop a good passing attack, however, as the season progressed, but still the fans and, we believe, many of the players, would welcome the former style of playing which permits sensational long shots which never fail to bring down the house.

The outstanding guards of the season were Johnny Goggin, late of Mt. St. Charles, who won recognition over the state as a guard, and Johnny Dalich. Goggin is the type who is able to blend plenty of natural talent with coaching to produce an unbeatable combination. He could always be relied upon to take the ball on the rebound from the backboard and his Irish temperament fitted in perfectly with his role of aggressiveness. John Dalich could always be depended upon to hold up his share of the battle and always showed the same old fight on the basketball floor as on the gridiron.

TRABER, f.

Proff. g.

Foremost of the ball carriers were Robert "Tex" Patton and Lloyd Woodahl, both playing at forward, who were the Blue's shooting hopes. Both of these men were clever enough to slip by most opposition to gain a place close by the basket from whence they whipped in short passes. However, they were guarded too closely to permit heavy scoring, but both will be on the local court again next year and will probably make up for all of the past season's missed shots.

Coach Jordan continued with the plan of having a complete schedule for men who liked to play basketball but lacked sufficient talent to make the team, as it was introduced by Coach Myron Carr here two years ago. The forty or more candidates for the first squad who were culled out when the season got under way were divided into teams and played several round-robins for the championship of their division. Jordan also continued with the system of class tournaments as it has been conducted here for over ten years. However, he had the interclass contests at the close of the season instead of at the start as the other coaches have done. The final class tournament in which teams from four classes were entered, was won by the Junior class team.

Next year, and in the succeeding years, Central High School will have a new gymnasium, new material from which to build teams, and new facilities to aid in the development. With a new gymnasium and a new school bringing in new material, Great Falls will more than live up to their reputation of always having one of the toughest teams in the state.

INTERCLASS BASKETBALL

The Interclass Basketball title was captured this year by the Juniors. This team received a defeat at the hands of the Seniors in its first game, but succeeded in finishing the rest of its schedule without another loss. It was a round-robin affair, and in the second round all of the teams had each lost one game to make a four-way tie. The Juniors defeated the Freshmen and Sophomores, but because of their first defeat were tied with the Freshmen who received their only loss at the hands of the three-year men. Since the percentages of the yearlings and the Juniors were tied, it was necessary to play another game for the championship. The Juniors won the school championship in this final game, but the Freshmen displayed a wealth of material that should help them greatly in next year's all-school contest.

INTERLEAGUE BASKETBALL

The plan of having a number of teams composed of players lacking the ability and size for first team work was continued this year under the original plan outlined two years ago by Coach Carr. The system allowed every player interested in the sport to complete a full season of games against others of almost equal ability, and it has proven the most successful of any of the methods to date in the matters of uncovering first team material and keeping the interest of the entire school keyed up over the chances of the first varsity squad.

COACH MYRON L. CARR

1927 - 1929

To Coach Carr goes the credit for developing the fourth state champion track team Great Falls High School has ever produced, and also for being able to exhibit, in all seasons, teams that never failed to be of championship calibre in both playing ability and sportsmanship. A gentleman himself, Coach Carr insisted that the team members, too, be gentlemen; and never were there any reports heard in this city as to the ill-behavior of the members of his teams while on trips.

None can deny his popularity with the Student Body; and his appearance, be it on stage or gridiron, was always cause for prolonged cheers. His was a successful and popular duration based on the simple formula of hard work, fair play, and a desire to win; attributes which have always been and will always be paramount in Great Falls High School athletics.

MOUNDUP

STATE CHAMPIONS

Herb Armstrong

Captain

For the fourth time in track meet history, the name of Great Falls High School has been placed on the championship list. A team that expected to win only a few points in the annual meet suddenly surprised both itself and every fan in the state by taking first honors in the largest state track meet in the United States. Not content with this, the Blues went on to Chicago where they placed high in the National finals.

Elton Good and Harold Moe proved to be the sensations at the state meet, and were the inspiration which made the whole team perform with professional smoothness. And to further demonstrate their superiority over all other Montana competition, the Central satellites were easy winners of the annual 880-yard relay race, which always marks the end of the state meet.

Central High's victory in the track events, both state and national, was the last honor to be conferred by a Great Falls team on Coach Myron L. Carr, and was a fitting tribute to his efforts. Coach Car is credited with developing more state championship calibre material while directing Central's athletes than any other coach has done in the history of the school.

"On to Chicago" became the team's motto, and funds were quickly subscribed by local business men to pay the expenses of sending the team to the National meet. It was a just reward for taking the state title, and the manner in which both Good and Moe performed in Chicago brought credit to the entire state of Montana.

But first let us review the Missoula upset. In the opening contest, Moe tied the state record for the 100-yard dash, in 10 1/5 seconds, the fastest time ever recorded by a Central entrant in any state meet. And Good loosened up his long legs and started to mow down competition in the 220 and 440 pre-liminaries, then in the semifinals where the fans began to select him as the winner, and lastly in the finals in which he set a new state record in the 440 at 51 4/5 seconds, breaking the record set by Bill Gonser in 1923, while on a Great Falls team.

MATTHEW PANCICH

Coach Carr entered Jack Bainton in the broad jump with little hope of his winning, but the copper-headed athlete proved to be the final surprise on the day's program, when he leaped 21 6/12 feet; just two inches short of the state record. Bainton's mark was never equalled in this event, and he was named state champion for the year.

Warren "Benny" Jewell added another point to the team's total by taking fifth place in the 220 low hurdles and Hamilton's third place in the discus meant three more points.

MACK HAMILTON

ELTON GOOD

Thursday evening, Great Fall's track team and its possibilities were on every tongue, according to the Associated Press report received here, and instead of being merely slated for a few points in the final standing, as sports editors had stated the previous evening, the Blue Bisons were now being picked as the possible state champions. The team members slept little that night, but none were more nervous than Coach Carr, who was hoping against hope that his "gang", as he called them, would take back to the Electric City the state title.

In the final day of the track meet, Good started the fireworks by breaking his own record in the 440 which he set the previous day. His new mark was 51 4/5 seconds, but even this was slower than his mark at Chicago, where he ran close to 50 seconds in the 440. Good also won the 220 finals, in which Moe tied, with Duff of Butte Central for second place. Moe also placed high in the javelin finals, although he had not practiced prior to the state meet, because of injured shoulder muscles.

As the last step in their

As the last step in their "surprise program," the Blue Bisons regained the 880-yard relay cup which they have frequently won. The local quartette ran the half mile in 1.35½ minutes, this mark being regarded by state officials as exceptionally fast relay time. Harold Moe, Elton Good, Jack Bainton and Herb Armstrong composed the relay team.

Great Falls was named state champions with 29½ points, Moe being credited with 10½ points, making him the third highest ranking entry in the meet.

After a week's rest, the boys left for Chicago for the annual meet of the Nation's best high school track talent.

As in the Montana contest, Elton Good proved to be the sensation of the meet, and easily over-ran competition in the 440 preliminaries. Moe took fourth in the javelin throws, with a toss of 164 feet, seven inches, exceeding his Missonla throw by five feet. The fact that Central's entrants in the Chicago meet did better in the Chicago meet than at Missoula is a good indication of the kind of competition they faced. They competed against the outstanding track men in the country and were further hindered by the fact that many of the team entered had twenty or more members. Great Falls' team had four members and won a total of 12 points, as compared to the $42\frac{1}{2}$ points made by the National champions from Gary, Indiana.

GIRLS' ATHLETICS

ISADORA HUFF
Director of Girls' Sports

The Girls' Athletic classes were open to all who were interested. A great many girls could not enter some of the sports this year due to the arrangement of their academic work. The aim of the department is to have large numbers participate and a variety of sports to interest all. "A girl for every game and a game for every girl," was the goal.

CLASS LEADERS

MONUDUE

Approximately sixty girls joined the volleyball classes which were held eighth and ninth periods. Toward the end of the season four captains were chosen who selected teams from the members of the class. The captains were June Briggs, Theo Morack, Ruth Dallenbach and Elizabeth Haagenson.

Basketball practice was started after Thanksgiving vacation. Fifty girls joined the basketball class. The Freshmen girls, due to their afternoon schedule, had only the seventh period for practice, while the upper classmen played periods VIII and 1X. A number of teams were formed giving each girl a chance to play on a team. Toward the end of the season the best players from each class were chosen to represent their class in the tournament.

SENIOR CLASS CHAMPIONS

The class teams were: Freshmen: Captain, June Briggs; Forwards, June Briggs, Lillian Lyon, Evelyn Radley, Lynette Arouni; Guards, Veda Barrett, Bessie Fagenstrom, Victoria Borra, Lois Swartz; Jumping Center, Edna Cottrell; Running Center, Fay Seiderholm, Ellen Boyd. Sophomoves: Captain, Bernadine Skaw; Forwards, Vivian Hood, Juanita Penlen, Katherine Hull; Guards. Vera Krous, Elizabeth Wood; Jumping Center, Bernadine Skaw; Running Center, May Olive Shepherd, Ruth Speer. Juniors: Captain, Frances Bovee; Forwards, Kathleen Garrett, Frances Bovee; Guards, Margaret Bowman, Charlotte Strong, Isabelle Milne, Elizabeth Hinderager; Running Center, Ruth Dallenbach, Louise Guyer; Jumping Center, Rosa Kress, Mary Ryan.

Scniors: Captain, Destie Coolidge; Forwards, Destie Coolidge, Doris Hancock; Gnards, Lillian Willcomb, Ladora Kerr; Running Center, Evelyn Groves, Meda Becker; Jumping Center, Elizabeth Haagenson.

In March, after the basketball season closed, practice for track was started. Approximately sixty girls joined. The practice was held outside whenever the weather permitted. Two teams were chosen by the captains elected by the class. Evelyn Groves was chosen captain of the "Greyhounds" and Destie Coolidge captain of the "Whippets."

After the Girls' Track Meet, May 2, baseball teams were organized for the rest of the season.

The game, "Serve Us Ball" was enjoyed by a large number of girls during regular gymnasium class periods.

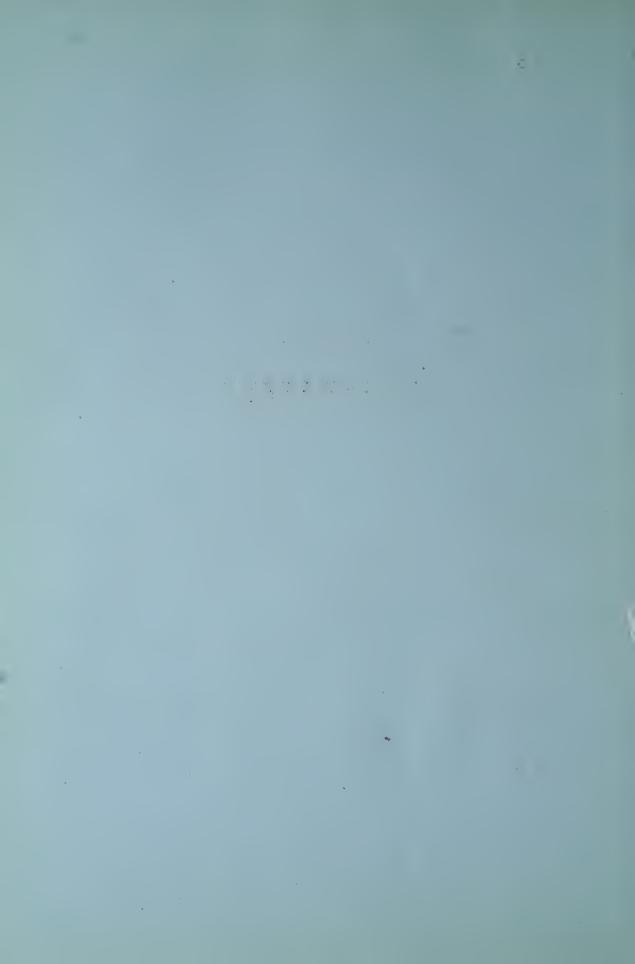

Besides the regular Physical Education, classes in Tumbling and Clog Dancing were open to anyone interested.

Each gymnasium class chose four leaders from their class to assist the Physical Education Instructor in doing group work. The enrollment of most of the classes was over eighty girls; so by dividing the classes in four groups the leaders assisted in teaching an activity to their group. By their cooperation a larger variety and amount of work could be accomplished in a short period.

MUSIC

Miss Ruth Bishop
Director

The Music Department at Central High School is the climax of a carefully planned program of musical education which has its start in the primary grades and broadens its field to match the progress of the student as he passes from grade to grade. At the close of the Junior High School Course the pupil is able to read music, keep time, and harmonize with voice and instrument.

The Freshmen continue the music course with the study of the theory of music and, in addition, the Freshmen girls have a Glee Club of their own. The Sophomores learn the history of the subject and also are taught how to more thoroughly appreciate the subject in all its forms. Upper classmen are given their choice of the Glee Clubs, Chorus or Orchestra, and also receive much individual training which often-times constitutes the necessary impetus needed to start them on a colorful music career.

The Central High School Music Department for the past three years, has been under the able direction of Miss Ruth Bishop, and this year it won first place in the State Music Meet held in Great Falls in April. The local entrants placed among the winners in nineteen events and won a total of 100 points.

In addition to preparing for Interscholastic Music Contests, the Music department aids materially in the development of poise, character and personality in its members through the study and interpretation of good music. The subject is elective to members of all classes, and a thorough knowledge of the art, as given in Central High School, is an asset whose worth has no bounds.

ALBERT SCHIFFLBEIN

The Great Falls Music Department had the privilege of sending the only Montanan representative to the National High School Orchestra which was held in Chicago, March 23 to 27, in the Stevens Hotel, and which played for the National Conference of Music Supervisors.

This orchestra, which represented the best High School talent in the United States, numbered about three hundred. Albert's being named a representative is one of the highest honors that can be conferred upon a musician of his class.

The orchestra played several concerts while in Chicago, one of which was held at the inumense Auditorium Theater. The numbers which they played are as follows. "The Unfinished Symphony in B Minor," by Franz Schubert; "Finlandia," by Sibelius; "Die Meistersinger," overture by Wagner; "The Ocean," by Hadley, and "March Slave," by Tschaikowsky.

Although it was necessary for the orchestra to practice seven and eight hours a day, the participants were entertained royally, which certainly made up for the hard work.

DRAMATICS

Mrs. Vivian Huhn
Director

To the Dramatics class we owe the entertainment of many a pleasant occasion. Members of the class are indefatigable in their efforts to prepare delightful assemblies and worthwhile plays. With the inspiration of their director, Mrs. Vivian Huhn, they achieved no mean success in all their undertakings.

The fourth year of English may be substituted by one year of Dramatics, which affords much valuable training in public speaking and stage presence.

The year began promisingly with the Junior Play, "The Youngest," an entertaining comedy, and which was a triumph in stage production and management.

The Senior Play, "The Professor's Love Story," was presented after the Roundup went to press, but from all accounts promised to be a great success.

The school considers the Dramatic Department one of its greatest assets.

THE HI-LIFE

The Hi-Life, the school's weekly newspaper, is published by the members of the Journalism class under the direction of Miss Eugenia Gillock. In it is recorded the news of the week, feature stories of students and their many activities, and a composite review of school life in general. The paper is maintained for the combined purposes of stimulating interest in school activities, forming student opinion, and affording for those who work on the paper a new vocational interest.

The Hi-Life was begun ten years ago nnder the direction of Miss Helen P. Shafer and is an outgrowth of the journalism seed, first planted in these halls by the late Miss Mary E. Stone. It has supplemented The Roundup, the present annual publication, which once was a periodical publication serving the same purposes as the Hi-Life. All of the news contained in it is written by high school students. It is in this department that students learn the value of accuracy, crispness, and the ability to write a complete review of the subject in only a few words.

THE ROUNDUP

The Roundup Staff of 1930 presents this, the twenty-third annual publication of the Great Falls High School, to the Student Body for its approval and enjoyment. It is the purpose of this book to embody the memories of the school in tangible and permanent form, to review the year's activities, and to express the school traditions.

Each year The Roundup has steadily progressed in size and structure, and new ideas have been introduced concerning arrangement of material, composition and the expression of individuality. It has been published as a general review of the year's activities.

The first Roundup was published by the members of the Senior Class under the supervision of the late Miss Mary E. Stone, as a weekly newspaper. In it were chronicled the happenings of the day, including stories of club meetings, class elections and feature stories of all types. It was intended to serve the same purpose as the present weekly nwspaper now does, but later it became a monthly periodical, and finally it reached its present place as the official Central High School annual.

The Roundup Staff wishes to state that it has been a great pleasure to produce this book, and they hope future Roundup Staffs will find their work equally as pleasing as that of the past year's and, in addition, may the annuals of the future continue to progress as the preceding publications have.

We wish to thank the members of the Faculty and the Student Body for their cooperation in our work. It is with satisfaction to us, and, we hope, with some degree of pleasure to you to have this book published.

SENATE-FORUM DEBATE

Resolved: "That the city manager form of municipal government is best adapted to the needs of cities with 40,000 people or more," is the subject of the annual Senate-Forum debate to be held on May 8, at 8 o'clock, in the High School Auditorium. A close contest is assured since both teams are well prepared and eager to go.

The custom of the Senate-Forum debate was inaugurated in 1920, and has been observed seven times. The Senate has been victorious in six of these contests, while the Forum won the debate of 1925.

YE DRODHECY

Miss Chatterton was idly twisting the dials on her new television radio when she perceived a strangely familiar form and heard a strangely familiar voice issue forth. "Ladies and Gentlemen, this is station BOMB, the Shout of Chicago, about to broadcast the grand opening of the great talkie, 'Dahlin's Desperate Deviltries', the most gorgeons, gigantic, breathtaking musical extravaganza ever to be shown. Ted Lofstrum announcing."

"Oh," breathed Miss Chatterton, "I thought I recognized him. He has be come the successor of Graham McNamee!"

Now, folks, John Dahlin is going to step before the "mike" to hand out the welcome sign. Here he is: "Howdy, everybody, I want to tell you that this is the biggest moment in my life, and I wish you were here to enjoy it with me. But, just remember, if it's a Dahlin's picture, 'It's the Best Show in Town', and only 49c at leading theaters everywhere. O. K., Ted, on with the show!"

Ladies and Gentlemen, here comes the star of the show—charming little Jane Tucker. Here is the girl who has had the most phenomenal rise in theatrical circles since the days of Harry Langdon. Folks, she has on one of the most beautiful gowns I've seen this year (I wonder if it's paid for). She is accompanied by her leading man, Archie (Dimples) McLeod. Here they are.

(In chorus). "Hello, everybody, we hope you like our new picture. We wish you were here with us. Goodbye."

Now, folks, look at the crowd that's turned out. The people who haven't gone in yet are waiting to see the late arrivals descend from their limousines. Hello, Alfred! That was Hon. Alfred Bloom, Mayor of New York, with the Mrs. on his arm. She was Mary Dierberger, the former famous Socialist. Bill Pope, the wealthy manufacturer of Pope's Practical Pickles (we all eat them), is leaving his Hispano-Suiza. With him is Laura Nicholson, President of the Al (Scarface) Capone's Relief Fund for Defunct Criminals.

Now, here's a big surprise! Margaret Coulter, the comedienne of the show, has just arrived; her big hit is I-ea-ta. Stand by for distress signals. What's this? An ambulance is coming up. They are taking Esther Epstein in on a stretcher. She crashed into the Woolworth Building with her new Curtis Wiseman plane this afternoon. She claims one wing was carelessly left off in the factory.

Here comes Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Gilchrist. Mrs. Gilchrist is known as Thelma Holt in public life, and is a famous cartoonist. They must have found someone to leave the kiddies with. You all know he made his fortune in "Handy Ash Cans," which come in navy blue and pale pink to match the paving in your alley.

Ladies and Gentlemen, may we announce the biggest surprise of the evening. Surrounded by a large body of secret service men comes no other than our President, Mack Hamilton. He will now come before the microphone.

Miss Chatterton ecstatically shouted, "I can't live; I can't breathe; I'm bursting with pride."

Folks, a huge Pierce-Arrow has just drawn up. Here's a big sensation—two of the country's most famous society leaders, Mrs. Smythe-Smythe (nee Dorothy Brown), and Mrs. Willy-Willy Htims (nee Charlotte Southmayd) and in the chauffeur we recognize the smirking countenance of the ex-pugilist, Schuyler Wolfe.

Now, Louis (Hallelujah) Gomovitz is sauntering in, his derby at a rakish angle. He wrote the song hits for the show—everybody's heard the "Igloo Blues," "I'm So Cold," "Crank Up Elizabeth and We'll Fly to Town," and "When It's Tulip Time in Holland, It's Necking Time in the Netherlands."

Whoopee! The adagio dancers of the revue—that great big cave man, Bob Gabbert and our dancing bit of thistledown, Louise Bardwell. Ah, Radio audience—do you hear that rustle among the feminine part of the gathering? Wheeler Coy, the chap that put the skirt where it ought to be, straight from his Parisian salon.

(Interruption). We have just picked up an SOS from the planet Mars stating that the famous explorer Clayton Hull with his company consisting of Julia Schubert, Harold Goodwin, Randolph Manuel, Margaret Gaines and Ralph Sutton have discovered a peanut butter geyser and are immediately starting up a sandwich factory.

Polish up your glasses, gentlemen! For here's Nadine Whitford, originator of the famous Whitford Whoopee Waddle. She can't do it here, but just come in and you'll see her kicking up her heels on the screen.

Hail the conquering heroes! Phil Leland, who put the loss in Philosophy with his book, "Grasshopper Chasing, and How It Helped My Game of Golf"; Robert MacGregor, the second Harry Lauder; and Les Koehler, who has spent years of research hunting for the hole in the doughnut.

Stand by for station announcements: This is station BOMB the Shout of Chicago—broadcasting from studios in Pichette's Peanut Stand. Here's Soapy Pfister, who invented Pfisterine, and trailing him closely are Coolidge and Bovee, those experts at diagnosing Pfisterinites, caused by too much indulgence (?).

Missionary zeal has fired the souls of our latest entrants. Marie Judge, Verne Montgomery, and Helen Swearingen have just returned from the wilds of Tasmania.

Alice Dunn, the girl who made America Gum Conscious, is coming into view. Her Gum Parkers are installed in every seat in this theater. And close behind her, Russell Doty, Broadway's Best Bandit, is picking the pocket of Raymond Nelson—the scholarly publisher of Nelson's Naughty Nips. Speaking of criminals, here's Fred Traber, fresh from Sing Sing.

We've just received a congratulatory telegram from Harold Becklin, who's cultivating ostriches in farthest Siberia. And rushing around backstage, I see Checkla and Burch, the electricians.

The villain approacheth! George W. Smith is just proceeding to his box in the gallery—George is the "bad man" in our show. Oh, Mr. Smith, won't you talk up our little flue? No? I guess he's bashful.

"Oh, goodness!" sighs Miss Chatterton, distractedly, "that beastly doctor has turned on his violet ray machine,——"

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

We, the Class of 1930, having been declared of sound mind and memory by all and sundry, hereby bend our mighty intellects to the gigantic task of bestowing our priceless effects upon the unworthy ones who are following in our hallowed footsteps, (Juniors, take notice), do hereby declare this our Last Will and Testament.

To the Hi-Life we leave our condolences and best wishes for an early recovery. In recognition of faithful services, we leave the old building with the new lights to Luther Doolittle. Valentine Corcoran leaves the tattered remnants of his dictionary and his business-like air to Robert Weisgerber. Claire LaMotte leaves her ability to keep up a continual flow of conversation to Maurine Chamberlain. Willard Ritter is leaving school! Congratulations. Robert McGregor, being Scotch, bequeaths nothing. Dorothy Brown leaves her superior air of sophistication to Marian O'Leary. Lillian Willcomb bequeaths her ability to sing, dance, and play the piano to her kid sister, Maybelle. Evelyn Groves leaves her attractiveness to Jane Sanders. Lois Thompson leaves her cute lisp to anyone who can imitate it. Sylvian Foerschler bequeaths her ability to make the typewriter rattle to Vivian Stiles. Valera Anderson leaves her classy figure to Ruth Kane, providing Ruth will go on an eighteen-day diet if she ever gains a little avoirdupois. Max Folsom leaves all (that he no longer needs) his scientific knowledge to Wilford Willey, another budding genius. Morry Farrell says that his sidekick, Lloyd Woodahl, may have all his old pencils, erasers, notebooks, gym shoes, etc., absolutely free. Morry isn't a Scotchman. James Stevens leaves his love of high school to Fred Heustis, who has already begun to show his yearning for a long course. Harold Peckingham leaves his curly hair to Johnny Goggin, that he may win the key to some girl's heart. Ladora Kerr leaves her long walk to school to Louise Gever, Falconer Smith leaves us feeling much better. Wheeler Coy leaves George Casey to find the girl of his dreams. The authors leave their fate in the hands of their victims.

The above was subscribed in the presence of each of us, and was at that time declared to be our Last Will and Testament, and in testimony thereof, we hereby affix our signatures.
